

DEDICATED TRAINING ON ENVIRONMENTAL AND SOCIAL ASPECTS OF SUSTAINABILITY

UPES Dedicated Training on Environment and Social Aspects of Sustainability

At UPES University, the commitment to sustainability extends beyond academic curriculum to encompass dedicated training on environmental aspects. Recognizing the critical role of environmental stewardship in achieving sustainability goals, UPES University offers comprehensive training programs tailored to equip students with the knowledge, skills, and practical experience needed to address environmental challenges effectively. Here's how UPES University offers dedicated training on environmental aspects of sustainability:

Integrated Curriculum: UPES University integrates environmental sustainability principles and concepts into its academic curriculum across various disciplines. Students have the opportunity to explore environmental issues, sustainable practices, and innovative solutions through specialized courses, modules, and projects embedded within their academic programs.

Environmental Studies Programs: UPES University offers dedicated programs in environmental studies, sustainability, and related fields, providing students with in-depth knowledge and expertise in environmental science, conservation, management, and policy. These programs equip students with a strong foundation in environmental principles and prepare them for careers in sustainability-related fields.

Research and Innovation: UPES University encourages research and innovation in environmental sustainability through interdisciplinary research projects, collaborations with industry partners, and participation in national and international initiatives. Students have the opportunity to engage in research activities, fieldwork, and laboratory experiments to explore environmental issues, develop innovative solutions, and contribute to knowledge creation in the field.

Extracurricular Activities: UPES University encourages student participation in extracurricular activities related to environmental sustainability, such as eco-clubs, green initiatives, volunteer projects, and community outreach programs. These activities provide students with opportunities to engage in environmental advocacy, raise awareness, and promote sustainable practices on campus and in the wider community.

Certification Programs: UPES University offers certification programs and continuing education courses on environmental sustainability topics to enhance students' knowledge and skills in specific areas of interest. These programs provide students with valuable credentials and professional development opportunities to advance their careers in sustainability-related fields.

In conclusion, UPES University demonstrates its commitment to environmental sustainability through dedicated training programs that equip students with the knowledge, skills, and practical experience needed to address environmental challenges and contribute to a more sustainable future. By integrating environmental sustainability into its curriculum, research, extracurricular activities, and outreach efforts, UPES University prepares students to become responsible global citizens and leaders in sustainability.

2. #National hashtag#Space hashtag#Day #2025 at UPES School of Advanced Engineering \(SoAE\) !

On 23rd August 2023, hashtag#India etched history with Chandrayaan-3's landing on the Moon's south pole, becoming the first nation to achieve this feat. Since then, this day is celebrated as National Space Day, a tribute to India's vision and innovation in space exploration.

This year, Student driven Infinity Space Club (affiliated with AIAA & registered Space Tutors of ISRO) at UPES, in collaboration with ISRO - Indian Space Research Organization and supported by SIA-India proudly hosted National Space Day 2025.

The celebrations aligned to this year's theme 'Aryabhata to Gaganyaan: Ancient Wisdom to Infinite Possibilities' transformed the UPES campus into a vibrant hub of hashtag#curiosity and hashtag#innovation.

The day featured insightful discourses by ISRO - Indian Space Research Organization scientist Ashish Joshi on Remote Sensing, and Aniruddha Deshmukh officer at IIRS, sharing valuable insights on ISRO's milestones. Other highlights included exhibitions, interactive demonstrations, and STEM showcases, providing an immersive experience in India's Space Programme and Defense & Aerospace Technologies.

With bright young minds from UPES and schools across Dehradun, the day was not just a commemoration—it became a launchpad for the next generation of space explorers.

3. ✨ From Classrooms to Careers: Real-World Industry Insights for Our Future Engineers ✨

As part of the Orientation Week for our newest undergraduate batch at the UPES School of Advanced Engineering, we kicked off with a flagship panel discussion — “From Theory to Impact: Unfiltered Industry Insights” comprising a distinguished panel of Industry Stalwarts –

- Ms. Sudharshana Jagannathan, Senior Director, Weatherford (Alumni, 2008 batch)
- Ms. Viklesh Sharma ,PMP®, Subsea Supervisor, ExxonMobil
- Mr. Manish Soni, Deputy General Manager, ONGC

The leaders shared invaluable perspectives with our students on:

- ✓ The most crucial technical & soft skills UG students should focus on
- ✓ How the industry is evolving & reshaping expectations from future engineers
- ✓ How corporates are adapting to the aspirations & working styles of Gen Z

Key Takeaways: Agility, resilience, continuous upskilling, and strong engineering fundamentals—blended with emerging competencies like data analytics & AI/ML—are vital for tomorrow’s engineers. Equally important are communication, collaboration, and embracing change.

The panel also emphasized how organizations today are prioritizing flexibility, inclusivity, and rapid growth opportunities, making the workplace more aligned with Gen Z values.

The session concluded with an engaging Q&A, where students received relatable and actionable career lessons directly from the experts.

A truly inspiring start to the academic journey, reinforcing UPES’ commitment to shaping industry-ready graduates who can transform theory into real-world impact.

4. Welcoming brilliance, one frame at a time.

The School of Advanced Engineering kickstarted its academic journey for the Class of 2025 with two vibrant days of inspiration, interaction and insights.

From decoding university life and exploring career pathways to discovering campus culture and bonding over shared experiences—our newest engineering minds stepped into the world of UPES with energy, curiosity and big dreams.

Here's a glimpse into the sessions, smiles and stories that made the SOAE induction truly special.

5. 🌈 Welcome to the World of Innovation, Exploration and Possibilities! 🚀

The induction days at the School of Advanced Engineering (SoAE) were nothing short of a power-packed launch into the hashtag#UPESLife! ✨

From discovering the roots and vision of UPES 🏡, exploring future career landscapes through Career Kalpana 🌀, diving into Gyan Kosh 📖 and IT tools 💻, to learning the essentials of discipline, sports, examinations and more, our newest M.Tech and M.Sc minds got a holistic taste of what's coming their way! 💡

And that wasn't all. Day 2 was all about tech, ideas, and vibes. From cluster showcases at the Techsphere Expo, lab tours, research highlights and pitching entrepreneurial ideas to discovering the magic of student life at SEE, the energy was off the charts!

💎 Here's to a journey full of learning, innovation, and endless possibilities. Welcome to UPES, where you're not just starting a degree, you're building your future. 🏡

6. ✨ ICMS 2025 concluded on a high note, bringing together brilliant minds, bold ideas and impactful research.

From keynote sessions to paper presentations, the conference sparked meaningful dialogue and inspired innovation at every step.

Gratitude to all our speakers, scholars and delegates for their valuable contributions.

Together, we continue to shape a future driven by knowledge and curiosity. 💡

7. Sustainability Fair 3.0 at UPES School of Advanced Engineering was a celebration of ideas, innovation, and collective responsibility.

Over two days, the event brought together thought leaders, industry experts, researchers, and students to engage in meaningful dialogue around sustainable development, environmental stewardship, and workplace safety.

From insightful keynote addresses and expert panel discussions to paper and poster presentations, student project exhibitions, and vibrant theme-based stalls — every element reflected our commitment to shaping a more sustainable future.

Here's a glimpse into the energy, collaboration, and impact that defined Sustainability Fair 3.0.

8. Advancing Teaching Excellence: Faculty Development at UPES 🎓 ✨

UPES, in collaboration with NITTTR Chandigarh, is empowering educators through a 5-Day Faculty Development Program on Outcome-Based Education & Accreditation. This initiative aligns with NEP 2020, equipping faculty with essential skills to enhance academic delivery and institutional growth.

Key takeaways for faculty:

- ✅ Mastering OBE principles – Implementing Bloom’s Taxonomy to frame Course Outcomes effectively.
- ✅ Strategic Learning Outcome Mapping – Aligning COs, POs, PSOs, and PEOs for accreditation success.
- ✅ Accreditation Readiness – Hands-on experience in NBA SAR preparation and action planning.
- ✅ Innovative Teaching & Assessment – Designing rubrics, digital pedagogy, and AI-driven evaluation.
- ✅ Institutional Development & Research Ethics – Strengthening research culture, ethics, and long-term academic planning.

By enhancing pedagogical approaches and accreditation strategies, UPES is shaping a future-ready learning ecosystem! 🚀📖

9. Welcoming New Distinguished Professors at HILL, UPES

We are delighted to welcome three eminent academicians to the Himalayan Institute for Learning & Leadership (HILL) at UPES:

Dr. Prem Chandra Sharma

Mr. Threesh Kapoor

Dr. V.C. Thakur

Their vast expertise and hashtag#vision will further strengthen our mission of fostering hashtag#transformative learning, hashtag#leadership, and hashtag#research rooted in the unique spirit of the hashtag#Himalayas.

We look forward to their invaluable contributions in inspiring our students and shaping the future of academic excellence at UPES.

11. National Workshop on Data Science in Astronomy | UPES

The Department of Applied Sciences, School of Advanced Engineering, UPES Dehradun, successfully hosted a 3-day National Workshop on Data Science in Astronomy in collaboration with IUCAA, Pune, India.

The workshop brought together scientists, academicians, and students to explore the intersection of astronomy, astrophysics, and data science, reflecting the school's focus on future-ready engineering and interdisciplinary research.

Students engaged in Expert lecture series and hands-on sessions on topics including solar astronomy, galaxy classification using machine learning, neutron stars, black holes, dark matter, and gravitational waves. A special solar telescope observation session and interactive poster presentations made the experience immersive and practical.

Events like these highlight the UPES's emphasis on research, innovation, and real-world problem solving through emerging technologies and collaborative learning.

12. Advancing Biomaterials Through Global Research Collaboration

The Mechanical Engineering Cluster, School of Advanced Engineering (SOAE), UPES, successfully hosted a Distinguished Guest Lecture by Dr. Yongdeok Jo , Director of R&D, EcoWorld (South Korea), and Visiting Scientist at Stevens Institute of Technology, USA.

The session offered in-depth insights into surface-modified Ti6Al4V alloys and hashtag#3D-printed Tricalcium Phosphate (TCP), highlighting their evolving role in orthopedic and dental implant technologies. Drawing from his extensive global research and industry experience, Dr. Jo elucidated how advanced surface hashtag#engineering and additive manufacturing are enhancing implant performance, biocompatibility, and patient-specific solutions.

Through such high-impact academic engagements, UPES continues to nurture research-oriented, industry-ready engineers, enabling students to engage with contemporary challenges, emerging hashtag#technologies, and global best practices. The lecture reinforced the school's commitment to experiential learning, international collaboration, and the development of future-ready talent in hashtag#advanced engineering domains.

13. From Fundamentals to Frontiers in Material Engineering

The Mechanical Cluster successfully hosted a guest lecture by Prof. Anuj Bisht (Department of Mechanical & Industrial Engineering, IIT Roorkee) on “Material Phenomenon at Small Length Scales.”*

The session offered valuable insights into how materials behave when examined at micro and nano scales - highlighting their relevance in advanced manufacturing, micro-mechanics, modern engineering applications , and emerging technologies.

Through interactive discussions and real research examples, participants developed a clearer perspective on research methodologies, design implications, and future career pathways in materials and mechanical engineering, making the lecture a valuable academic and professional learning experience.

Students and faculty engaged in an enriching discussion, gaining exposure to cutting-edge research perspectives and real-world applications from one of the leading academic voices in mechanical engineering.

14. Advancing Industry-Ready VLSI Expertise through Hands-on Learning at UPES

The Electrical Cluster, School of Advanced Engineering, UPES Dehradun conducted a three-day Hands-on Workshop on VLSI Design using Cadence Tools from 4–6 February 2026, aimed at strengthening industry-aligned competencies among students, faculty, and researchers.

The workshop provided in-depth exposure to contemporary hashtag#VLSI design flows, with a strong focus on design, simulation, and verification using globally adopted EDA tools, bridging academic learning with real-world semiconductor practices.

The session featured Dr. Jay Shah, Director – GlobalFoundries India, who delivered strategic insights into the global semiconductor ecosystem, emerging technologies, and career opportunities in VLSI. He emphasized the critical role of industry–academia collaboration in developing a future-ready workforce.

Hands-on laboratory sessions, led by Dr. Anish Kumar Sharma, enabled participants to translate theoretical concepts into practical design implementation using Cadence tools, enhancing both research and classroom readiness.

The initiative reaffirms UPES's commitment to industry-integrated education, applied research excellence, and the development of future-ready semiconductor professionals.

15. ICAMEES 2.0 | hashtag#Engineering the Future of hashtag#Materials, hashtag#Energy & Environmental hashtag#Sustainability

The Department of Chemistry, Applied Science Cluster, under the School of Advanced Engineering, UPES Dehradun, is organizing the 2nd International Conference on Advanced Materials, Energy & Environmental Sustainability (ICAMEES 2.0) on 18–19 December 2025. This conference is envisioned as a global engineering and science forum bringing together researchers, academicians, industry leaders, and young innovators to explore cutting-edge materials, next-generation energy systems, and sustainable engineering solutions addressing contemporary global challenges.

ICAMEES 2.0 will be graced by Padma Shri Prof. swaminathan sivaram as Chief Patron, Magsaysay Awardee Shri Rajendra Singh as Guest of Honor, and Dr. L P SINGH, FRSC, Director General, NCCBM as Chief Guest, alongside eminent national and international speakers.

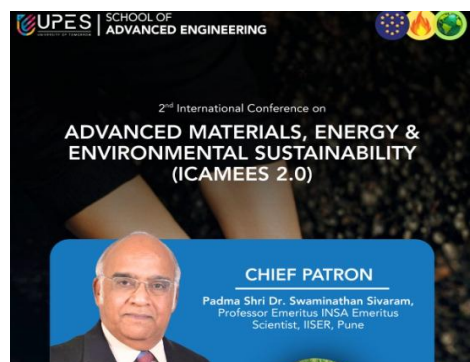

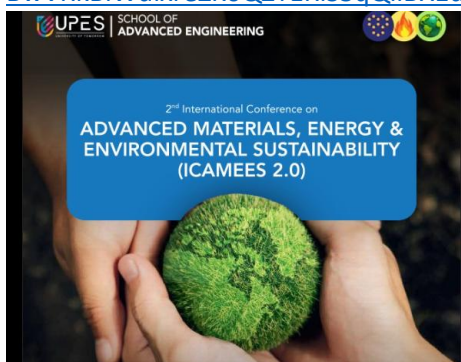

The programme will feature keynote addresses, invited lectures, oral and poster presentations, fostering interdisciplinary research dialogue, technology translation, and academia–industry collaboration.

 18–19 December 2025

 UPES Dehradun

Aligned with national development goals and global sustainability missions, ICAMEES 2.0 aims to drive engineering-led scientific solutions with real-world impact.

16. Shaping Future Geoscientists: UPES Students Learn from India's Geological Heritage

For geologists, the entire planet is a classroom - and nature is the greatest teacher. Every outcrop, every layer of rock, and every landscape narrates a story far beyond what textbooks can capture.

Final-year B.Sc. Geology and M.Sc. Applied hashtag#Geology students from SoAE, UPES embarked on an immersive hashtag#geological hashtag#field hashtag#excursion to Jodhpur, one of India's most iconic natural classrooms, under the guidance of Dr.

Annapurna Boruah and Dr. Uday Bhan.

A key highlight of the excursion was the visit to the Melani Igneous Suite, a National Geological Monument that records the final pulse of Precambrian magmatism in India ($\approx 600\text{--}750$ Ma). Students studied the Jodhpur and Bilara formations of the hashtag#Marwar Supergroup, mapped sandstone and limestone exposures, documented sedimentary structures, and explored the region's stratigraphic and structural characteristics.

But beyond geological learning, this fieldwork offered something even more powerful - skills for life.

Field training teaches what classrooms cannot:

- ✓ Adaptability in changing environments
- ✓ Teamwork and coordination in real field conditions
- ✓ Leadership and decision-making
- ✓ Time and task management
- ✓ Problem-solving with limited resources
- ✓ Observation and interpretation guided directly by nature

This field excursion not only strengthened academic understanding but also shaped stronger, more confident, and field-ready geoscientists prepared to take on real-world challenges.

NANAK KUMAR (CSIR - JRF), a doctoral scholar from the Department of hashtag#Physics, School of Advanced Engineering, participated in the 2nd International Conference on Advanced hashtag#Nanomaterials and hashtag#Nanotechnology held in Paris, France.

He presented his work titled "TiVC MXenes for CO₂ Hydrogenation to Formic Acid: Insights from DFT," contributing to ongoing scientific discussions on hashtag#sustainable catalysis, carbon utilization, and advanced functional materials. His engagement with global researchers provided valuable perspectives for strengthening and expanding his current research.

UPES remains committed to encouraging scholarly participation in global research arenas. Engagements like this reinforce our commitment to research excellence, global knowledge exchange, and nurturing inquiry-driven researchers who contribute thoughtfully to emerging scientific domains.

18. Renaissance 4.0 Concludes with Transformative Dialogues Shaping the Future of Space Innovation 🚀

Hosted by the UPES School of Advanced Engineering , Renaissance 4.0 showcased the power of experiential learning and frontier innovation. The convention featured student-built rocket launches with Thrust Tech India Pvt. Ltd., complemented by an impressive exhibition of research posters, prototypes, and dynamic drone and RC demonstrations.

The research track reflected strong scholarly engagement, with 200+ submissions, 100 shortlisted, and 80 presented. Notable contributions included “Legal and Operational Challenges of Counter-Unmanned Aircraft Systems (CUAS)” and the award-winning paper “CFD Sensitivity Analysis of Dynamic Stall Characteristics of a Pitching Airfoil at Low Reynolds Number.”

The inauguration of the Space Tech Lab, accompanied by a technology demonstration by Thrust Tech India Pvt. Ltd., further strengthened the ecosystem for applied research and student-driven innovation..

Renaissance 4.0 reaffirmed the UPES School of Advanced Engineering’s commitment to thought hashtag#leadership, hashtag#cutting-edge research, and cultivating the hashtag#next generation of hashtag#space hashtag#innovators.

19. Energy Summit 2025 – A Convergence of Ideas, Innovation & Impact

A powerful convergence of policymakers, industry stalwarts, researchers, and young innovators marked the successful conclusion of hashtag#Energy hashtag#Summit 2025 – 4th Edition, hosted at UPES.

The summit welcomed eminent hashtag#leaders including Mrs. Gauri Singh, Dr. Madhukar .O. Garg, Shri R.K. Srivastava , Prof Ram B. Gupta , Anjan Ray, Dr. Pandurang, Dr. Anil Verma (IIT Delhi), Dr. Soumyajit Mukherjee , and several other distinguished experts who enriched the discourse with deep domain insights.

Across keynote sessions and thought-leadership dialogues, speakers mapped the rapid evolution of the global energy landscape - from conventional fossil pathways to petrochemicals, advanced materials, nanomaterials, shales, and gas hydrates.

They emphasised the strategic transitions industries must undertake as global systems accelerate toward sustainability, circularity, and technological resilience.

Summit Highlights

- Future-focused deliberations on catalysts, emerging materials platforms, and disruptive technologies
- 200+ research papers and technical presentations showcasing breakthrough work from academia and industry
- Strong youth participation, with 175+ school students presenting innovative models and posters

Energy Summit 2025 reinforced UPES -especially the School of Advanced hashtag#Engineering - as a leading platform where industry, research, and talent converge to co-create transformative pathways for India's hashtag#energy hashtag#transition and the future of global energy systems.

1. Ideas are powerful — but only when protected.

Every hashtag#invention, every hashtag#discovery, every spark of hashtag#innovation has the potential to change lives. Yet, without the right safeguards and hashtag#strategies, these ideas often fade, before they can shape the hashtag#future.

The UPES School of Business, in collaboration with DPIIT–IPR Chair, Department of Management Studies, IIT Roorkee, proudly presents the International hashtag#Conference on hashtag#IntellectualPropertyRights and Innovation: Pathways to hashtag#ViksitBharat.

 26–27 September 2025

 UPES School of Business, Kandoli Campus

This hashtag#global platform will bring together policymakers, scholars, industry leaders, and innovators to discuss how intellectual property rights can become the backbone of India's hashtag#innovation hashtag#economy and pave the way for a truly self-reliant Viksit Bharat.

This isn't just a conference. It is a movement to secure the future of ideas.

2. Fueling the Future: Insights on Challenges in Petro Retailing

The petroleum retail sector in India is at a turning point, balancing rapid growth with intense competition. To help our students gain real-world exposure, the UPES School of Business hosted a interactive session with Mr., G.H.V. RAO Zonal Manager (Oil & Gas Downstream), HPCL Chandigarh , on “Challenges in Petro Retailing as per Indian Context.”

Students explored real-world challenges such as:

- Shrinking profit margins and high capital requirements in retail expansion
- Infrastructure bottlenecks impacting smooth operations
- The critical role of branding, customer trust, and service excellence
- Compliance with safety standards and regulatory frameworks
- The growing impact of automation, digital systems, and sustainable practices

The session highlighted how innovation and adaptability are essential for the next generation of energy professionals. Students understood that success in petro retailing goes beyond fuel it lies in building trust, ensuring safety, embracing technology, and driving sustainable growth.

At School of Business , such knowledge sessions bridge the gap between academics and industry, preparing students to take on leadership roles in the energy sector of tomorrow.

3. Procurement Excellence in Action: Lessons from ONGC's Supply Chain

The School of Business hosted an insightful Masterclass by Mr. Bhuwan Sharma, Former Chief General Manager (Materials Management), ONGC, on "Adapting Supply Chains to Procurement Challenges in the E&P Industry."

Organized by the hashtag#Logistikaas and hashtag#FIPI, the session highlighted how procurement is not just about cost optimization but a driver of innovation, competitiveness, and growth.

Key Insights:

- Unique challenges of E&P supply chains: uncertain demand, global sourcing, long lead times & strict safety norms.
- Procurement as a strategic function—driving 60–70% of costs, where even a 1% saving has a big impact.
- ONGC's transformation through CPD, MIND & NTA for stronger governance and faster decision-making.

- Modern tools: QCBS frameworks, Reverse Auctions, Vendor Managed Inventory & Development Orders for greater innovation and transparency.

Takeaway: Procurement is the backbone of resilience and long-term success in dynamic industries.

8. Back to Inspire: An Alumna's Masterclass on Branding, Startups & Career Growth

Every career journey begins with a story. At UPES School of Business, a thought-provoking Masterclass session was conducted on "The Modern Career Starter Pack: Building Visibility, Credibility & Career Confidence with LinkedIn and Startups."

Led by our very own alumna, Vasundhara Johar a brand-first marketing strategist with extensive experience in shaping digital-first brands the session was packed with real-world insights, relatable stories, and actionable strategies.

With a strong LinkedIn community of 10,000+ professionals, Ms. Johar shared how consistent personal branding, storytelling, and confidence can not only launch startups but also elevate individual careers.

Key Takeaways from the session :

- Branding is more than a logo — it's about shaping trust and impact.
- Visibility + Credibility = Career Confidence.
- Consistency builds long-term success.

- Practical strategies from startup ecosystems apply equally to personal growth.

The audience walked away inspired, informed, and equipped to start their own journey of building strong professional identities.

Stay tuned as we bring you stories of more Masterclasses that shaped an exciting week of learning at School of business .

9. Internships: The First Chapter of Every Career Story

For our UPES School of Business students, internships are more than a short-term project — they're the first taste of corporate life, the training ground where they test their skills, make mistakes, learn fast, and discover what it really takes to thrive in business.

When they step into placement interviews, they don't just talk about theoretical knowledge — they share real experiences, real projects, and real impact.

That's why at UPES School of Business, we believe:

- ◆ Internship isn't just preparation; it's transformation.
- ◆ A strong internship means stronger placements.
- ◆ Career confidence is built in boardrooms, not just classrooms.

Here's to our students turning internships into launchpads — and proving that the journey to a great placement always begins with hands-on experience. 🚀

10. New beginnings. New ambitions. One journey.

The Orientation Program for the Undergraduate students of UPES School of Business took off with energy, inspiration, and enthusiasm! 🚀

From powerful addresses by our faculty and leadership, to peer bonding, sessions on academic life, innovation, and entrepreneurship — it is all about preparing our students to be future-ready business leaders.

To all our new students: this is where your transformation begins.

Welcome to the UPES family!

11. Why Internship Before Placement Makes All the Difference

At UPES School of Business, we don't just aim for great placements — we prepare for them.

Every successful placement begins with a meaningful internship. It's where students:

- Experience the real-world work environment
- Understand corporate expectations
- Build relevant skills and professional networks
- Discover their passion within their chosen field

Our students are currently interning at leading companies across sectors like marketing, finance, operations, analytics, and more. These internships act as mini-careers before the real one begins — giving them clarity, confidence, and competence.

They enter placement season not with uncertainty, but with clarity — backed by real-world internships that shaped their skills and direction.

Every internship story is a step toward a bigger dream. And every milestone they achieve outside the classroom is a testament to the strong foundation they have built within it.

13. Igniting the MBA Journey: 14 Days of Transformation

From trekking through mountain trails to analyzing markets and financial strategies, the MBA Foundation course Program at the School of Business, UPES wasn't just about lectures — it was about building future leaders at every level.

Across two immersive weeks, our students gained knowledge, built skills, and forged lasting connections by:

- ✓ Exploring industry insights and case-based learning
- ✓ Sharpening skills in finance, quantitative techniques, and Excel
- ✓ Building communication, etiquette, and teamwork capabilities
- ✓ Discovering self-awareness, leadership, and career pathways
- ✓ Immersing themselves in sports, trekking, and cultural expression

Leadership is tested when the terrain gets tough :- 85 students from MBA embarked on the 13 km Missrapati Trek — not just to complete a trail, but to discover the perseverance and teamwork it takes to lead in the real world.

This wasn't just about academic learning — it was about shaping leaders who think deeply, feel genuinely, and act with purpose.

With the foundation laid, the transformation begins.

Here's to the batch of 2025–2027 — the leaders, innovators, and changemakers of tomorrow.

17. UPES School of Business Researchers Publish in Prestigious ABDC A-Star Journal Energy Economics !

UPES is proud to share that research by our esteemed faculty — Dr. Anup K. Yadava Soumyajit Chakraborty, and Sonal Gupta, PhD — has been published in the high-impact ABDC A-Star journal Energy Economics (Impact Factor: 13.6).

The study benchmarks the performance of Indian electricity distribution companies (DISCOMs) from 2015-16 to 2022-23 using advanced multi-stage DEA and SFA models. Key findings reveal that short-term inefficiencies have a greater impact on overall performance than persistent inefficiencies. The research underscores the urgent need for a stable regulatory framework, fair tariffs, and effective policies to enhance the efficiency and financial sustainability of DISCOMs — a vital link in India's energy sector.

This achievement reflects UPES's commitment to cutting-edge research that supports India's sustainable energy transition and economic growth.

Congratulations to our faculty on this impactful contribution!

18. What if your MBA classroom could put you on Mars—or in the middle of a global supply chain crisis?

At the School of Business, UPES, that's no longer fiction. It is reality. Or more accurately—Extended Reality (XR).

In a first-of-its-kind collaboration with the INSEAD XR Lab—a global leader in immersive learning—we piloted two high-impact XR simulations:

Mission to Mars demanded critical thinking, leadership, and collaboration in an interplanetary team scenario.

 The Avocado Shake Case tested students' ability to navigate strategic business decisions under real-time pressure.

These weren't just case studies.

They were live, immersive experiences—multi-sensory, high-pressure simulations where students stepped directly into complex, real-world business challenges.

The goal? To prepare students to be life-ready, future-ready, and industry-ready through hands-on, high-impact learning experiences.

 At UPES, the classroom of tomorrow is already here—where global thinking, cutting-edge technology, and experiential learning converge to shape the next generation of leaders.

44. Knowledge Session on Challenges in Petro Retailing

Fueling the Future: Insights on Challenges in Petro Retailing

The petroleum retail sector in India is at a turning point, balancing rapid growth with intense competition. To help our students gain real-world exposure, the UPES School of Business hosted a interactive session with Mr, G.H.V. RAO Zonal Manager (Oil & Gas Downstream), HPCL Chandigarh, , on “Challenges in Petro Retailing as per Indian Context.”

Students explored real-world challenges such as:

- Shrinking profit margins and high capital requirements in retail expansion
- Infrastructure bottlenecks impacting smooth operations
- The critical role of branding, customer trust, and service excellence
- Compliance with safety standards and regulatory frameworks
- The growing impact of automation, digital systems, and sustainable practices

The session highlighted how innovation and adaptability are essential for the next generation of energy professionals. Students understood that success in petro retailing goes beyond fuel it lies in building trust, ensuring safety, embracing technology, and driving sustainable growth.

At School of Business , such knowledge sessions bridge the gap between academics and industry, preparing students to take on leadership roles in the energy sector of tomorrow.

45. Procurement Excellence in Action: Lessons from ONGC's Supply Chain

The School of Business hosted an insightful Masterclass by Mr. Bhuwan Sharma, Former Chief General Manager (Materials Management), ONGC, on “Adapting Supply Chains to Procurement Challenges in the E&P Industry.”

Organized by the hashtag#Logistikaas and hashtag#FIPI, the session highlighted how procurement is not just about cost optimization but a driver of innovation, competitiveness, and growth.

Key	Insights:
- Unique challenges of E&P supply chains: uncertain demand, global sourcing, long lead times & strict safety	norms.
- Procurement as a strategic function—driving 60–70% of costs, where even a 1% saving has a big impact.
- ONGC's transformation through CPD, MIND & NTA for stronger governance and faster decision-making.
- Modern tools: QCBS frameworks, Reverse Auctions, Vendor Managed Inventory & Development Orders for greater innovation and transparency.

Takeaway: Procurement is the backbone of resilience and long-term success in dynamic industries.

48. Unveiling Market Truths: A hashtag Masterclass that Transformed How Our Students Decode Data

In a marketplace overflowing with data, the real advantage lies in knowing what deserves attention - and what doesn't. This powerful perspective shaped the latest masterclass on "Unveiling Market Insights," organized by D.I.G.E.T and the Decision Sciences & Business Analytics Cluster at the UPES School of Business.

Ms. Anukriti Agarwal Principle Researcher at Gartner, delivered an incisive and intellectually enriching session - one that moved well beyond traditional survey techniques, unpacking the architecture of high-impact global research and illustrating how industry leaders shift from merely speculating about consumer needs to understanding them with precision.

Our students walked away with clarity, structure, and a renewed strategic mindset. Key takeaways included:

- Defining the Right Problem to prevent costly strategic missteps
- Distinguishing between Exploratory and Conclusive research hashtag#designs
- Eliminating data "noise" for higher hashtag#research validity
- Using the "So What?" Test to translate hashtag#analytics into hashtag#strategy

The session concluded with dynamic, high-quality engagement as students challenged assumptions and deepened their understanding of market intelligence.

51. The hashtag global energy landscape is transforming faster than ever!

With shifting geopolitics, evolving policies, and rapid hashtag#technological advancements, ensuring long-term energy security, affordability, and independence is more crucial than ever.

We are delighted to host an insightful session at University of Tomorrow "UPES", where industry leaders will shed light on the dynamic challenges and opportunities in the global energy supply chain.

Key Discussion Points:

- ✓ The impact of geopolitical shifts on energy supply chains
- ✓ Strategies for achieving energy security & affordability
- ✓ Role of technology & innovation in sustainable energy solutions
- ✓ Challenges in balancing economic growth with green energy transition
- ✓ Strengthening global supply chains for long-term resilience.

 Event Details:

📅 Date: 18th March 2025

📍 Venue: SoL Auditorium, UPES

A opportunity to gain insights from renowned industry experts, explore cutting-edge energy solutions, and to gain insights as to how to enhance supply chain resilience in an increasingly volatile world!

52. Powering Responsible Leadership in Energy

The School of Business, UPES, reaffirmed its commitment to shaping future-ready leaders in the energy domain by hosting SAKSHAM 2026 - an annual initiative dedicated to advancing energy conservation and responsible energy use.

The event brought together eminent leaders from regulatory authorities and India's leading public sector energy enterprises, including G. K. Pandey, Deputy Chief Controller of Explosives, Dehradun; Surendra Pratap Yadav, Deputy Controller of Explosives, Dehradun; Krishna Kumar Gupta, DRSH, Indian Oil Corporation Limited \(Iocl\); DEEPAK KAUSHIK, RM, Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Limited; and Yogesh Lole, TM, Bharat Petroleum Corporation Limited - reflecting the strong industry-academia synergy that defines the School of Business.

Deliberations focused on India's evolving energy ecosystem, regulatory hashtag#governance, hashtag#energy security, sustainable consumption models, and innovation-led transition strategies. The discussions underscored the critical role young management professionals must play in building resilient, responsible, and hashtag#sustainable energy systems.

At the School of Business, UPES, we continue to bridge policy, industry, and management education-empowering future leaders to drive transformation in the hashtag#Oil & Gas and broader energy sectors.

53. Reimagining Marketing in a Dynamic Business Era: Bridging Strategic Thought with Industry Practice

Marketing Conclave 2026 brought together aspiring marketers, industry leaders, and academic experts - positioning the School of Business, UPES as a vibrant hub for contemporary marketing thought leadership.

The conclave opened with engaging expert sessions and strategic dialogues that unpacked India's evolving marketing landscape, with a focused lens on hashtag#GenZ and hashtag#GenAlpha. Discussions explored shifting consumer mindsets, digital-first behavior, hashtag#content-led engagement, and the growing importance of purpose-driven brand communication in shaping tomorrow's markets.

A key highlight of the event was the National-Level hashtag#Case hashtag#Competition, where participants showcased exceptional analytical thinking, creativity, and real-world problem-solving while addressing contemporary hashtag#marketing challenges.

54. Preparing Business Leaders for an AI-First Global Economy

The UPES School of Business hosted a distinguished Industry Expert Lecture by Mr. Piyush Tiwari Founder & CEO of BTG Ventures (UAE) and iDelta360, reinforcing its strong commitment to industry-academia collaboration. His session, “How to Work Alongside AI, Not Compete With It,” offered students a strategic lens on how hashtag#artificial hashtag#intelligence is transforming global business domains including international trade, logistics, regulatory compliance, and executive decision-making.

Blending real-world case studies with immersive, hands-on group exercises, the session enabled students to cultivate future-critical capabilities such as strategic foresight, AI orchestration, data-driven storytelling, and ethical leadership in technology-enabled environments.

Such industry-anchored learning experiences reaffirm the UPES School of Business's commitment to shaping responsible, agile, and globally attuned business leaders equipped to lead in an hashtag#AI-driven economy.

55. When Business Education Meets Energy Industry Leadership

Uniper visited the UPES School of Business to engage with MBA Oil & Gas students on the evolving hashtag#energy business landscape and derivatives market growth.

A key highlight was the learning exchange led by UPES alumnus Prateek Singh, now a Business Analyst at Uniper, who shared his professional journey and practical industry insights. The sessions brought real-world business perspectives into the classroom, reinforcing how strategic thinking, market understanding, and domain expertise shape leadership in the energy sector.

Such interactions reflect how UPES continues to build a strong learning ecosystem - where alumni return to mentor, guide, and inspire students, strengthening the bridge between education and industry.

56. The Road to Excellence: Hero MotoCorp x Unstop launches HCC Season 10 at UPES.

UPES hosted the official launch of the Hero Campus Challenge (HCC) Season 10 as a key university partner, welcoming Hero MotoCorp's leadership team to the campus.

With a strong legacy of excellence in national case competitions, UPES School of Business has consistently outperformed across premier platforms, recording multiple wins at institutions such as the IIMs, FMS, and SRCC. This sustained success reflects the university's academic rigour, strategic depth, and industry-aligned pedagogy.

Hero MotoCorp's campus activation further affirms UPES credibility as a trusted industry - academia partner and a preferred destination for future-ready talent.

Featuring a ₹25 lakh prize pool and Pre-Placement Interview opportunities, the launch offered students direct exposure to corporate strategy and competitive excellence.

Through such collaborations, UPES continues to strengthen its position as a leading academic partner for global organisations.

57. UPES School of Business Showcases Research Excellence at IMRC 2025

UPES School of Business continues to strengthen its reputation as a hub for rigorous hashtag#research and impactful case writing. At the India Management Research Conference (IMRC'2025) hosted by Indian Institute of Management Ahmedabad, our faculty members - Dr. Anita Sengar, Rakesh K. Meet, Ph.D., Dr. Ajit Yadav, Dr. Vijaya and Prof. Ashish Singh - proudly represented UPES.

Showcasing the university's growing strength in creating industry-relevant hashtag#case hashtag#studies, the team secured the Best Case Award in Track 01: Unpacking the Indian Startup

Story for their case titled “Suvidha Supermarket: Consolidate or Conquer?”

This achievement reflects UPES’s commitment to transforming real-world business challenges into data-driven, decision-focused learning experiences - empowering students with deeper insights into the evolving world of hashtag#management.

58. Fuelling the Future: Reflections from FIPI Naftanomics 2025.

FIPI Naftanomics 2025 brought together industry leaders, young innovators, and energy enthusiasts - positioning the School of Business, UPES as a strong platform for thought leadership in sustainability and energy transition.

The event opened with engaging student activities - Poster Making, Debate, and the Energy Lexicon Game - sparking creativity, curiosity, and collaboration across the campus. Expert sessions that followed offered powerful insights into India’s evolving energy landscape, highlighting:

- India’s bold shift toward clean energy & self-reliance
- Sustainability as a driver of innovation & growth
- Renewable energy advancements, including hydropower
- Generative AI shaping smarter decision-making

- Green aviation, logistics & resilient supply chains
- Transitioning from conventional to cleaner energy sources

Naftanomics 2025 reinforced how technology, sustainability, and strategic thinking together shape India's energy future.At the School of Business, UPES, we continue to empower students to lead responsibly and drive meaningful change in the world of energy and sustainability.

59. In a world propelled by data, transforming it into a compelling narrative is a true superpower.

That's precisely the ability our students unlocked during the latest session on Visual Storytelling with hashtag#PowerBI and hashtag#Generative hashtag#AI, proudly organized by D.I.G.E.T and the Decision Sciences & Business Analytics Cluster.

Mr. Aman Mishra, Manager at Indian Oil Corporation Limited (IOCL), who masterfully illuminated the art of translating data into impactful stories. He went beyond mere charts and dashboards - revealing how to extract hidden insights that shape strategic, real-world business decisions.

The session empowered our students with advanced analytical and creative competencies. Major takeaways included:

- ✓ Mastering Power BI for dynamic and interactive dashboard creation.
- ✓ Grasping the core principles of effective data storytelling.
- ✓ Leveraging Generative AI for advanced and intuitive data interpretation.
- ✓ Enhancing analytical reasoning and creative problem-solving capabilities.

The session's highlight was an immersive deep dive into Generative AI 🤖 - showcasing how this transformative technology is revolutionizing analytics and enabling seamless human-data interaction.

At the School of Business, UPES, we nurture future leaders who see data not just as numbers, but as stories that can inspire change and drive intelligent decisions.

School of Computer Science

1. A recent visit of the delegates from the University of Malta at UPES has opened promising avenues to explore how hashtag AI and healthcare can converge to address global challenges.

While the discussion is in exploratory stage the key highlights of the discussion included:

- ◆ Collaboration opportunities through the hashtag#IEEE conference
- ◆ Joint research in healthcare, with a focus on special hashtag transcriptomics
- ◆ Advancements in OCR documentation & hashtag applications for medical data
- ◆ Discussion on availability of sensitive medical dataset for global hashtag interoperability
- ◆ Data collaboration prospects with the Ministry of Health, Malta
- ◆ Exploring Research internships and student exchange programs with University of Malta
- ◆ Leveraging expertise of faculty, students, and AI infrastructure at UPES

The dialogue establishes a shared vision—where collective expertise drives solutions for a healthier, smarter, and more connected future.

2. Ready to step into the future of tech?

The AWS Community Day Dehradun 2025 is here — in collaboration with UPES-CSA Student Chapter, UPES School of Computer Science, powered by the AWS User Group Dehradun.

This isn't just an event, it's a movement — uniting hashtag innovators, hashtag creators, and hashtag tech enthusiasts under one roof. The celebration will feature:

- ✦ Inspiring keynotes & hands-on sessions
- ✦ Industry experts sharing real-world insights
- ✦ Networking with the brightest tech minds and more...

Date: September 10, 2025; Venue: MAC, UPES Bidholi Campus

3. At UPES, we believe in learning from global pioneers! ✨

We were honored to host Prof. Reuven Yosef, Senior Professor & Distinguished Scientist at Ben Gurion University of the Negev (Israel), for an engaging guest talk on “Haps and Mishaps with Technology in Avian Research”.

Prof. Yosef, a renowned ecologist and ornithologist with 300+ scientific publications, shared how modern tools like satellite tracking, GIS, AI, and remote sensing are revolutionizing wildlife conservation.

Key Highlights for SoCS students:

- Understanding how technology and ecology intersect to solve real-world challenges
- Exposure to AI and data-driven approaches in ecological research
- Insights into international collaboration opportunities in conservation and sustainability
- Inspiration to apply computing knowledge beyond classrooms to impact global environmental issues

Such sessions not only broaden academic horizons but also encourage our students to dream bigger and explore interdisciplinary applications of computer science in the real world.

4. We are proud to share that Dr. Dr. Rakesh Ranjan, Assistant Professor, AI Cluster, School of Computer Science (SoCS), UPES, represented the university at the 47th Annual International Conference of the IEEE Engineering in Medicine and Biology Society (IEEE EMBC 2025), held in Copenhagen, Denmark DK.

Dr. Ranjan presented his research paper titled “EFRNet: A Deep Hybrid Model for End-to-End Knee Osteoarthritis Detection and Progression Assessment” at one of the world’s most reputed biomedical and AI conferences (Scopus indexed, h-index: 94).

 At EMBC 2025, he:

- ✓ Showcased cutting-edge AI research in biomedical imaging
- ✓ Participated in technical sessions on healthcare AI, wearable tech & signal processing
- ✓ Networked with experts from IITs, Newcastle University (UK), Dresden University of Technology (Germany), University of Alberta (Canada), G. Tec Medical Engineering GmbH (Austria), and more
- ✓ Explored opportunities for joint publications, collaborative research, student projects & faculty exchanges

Impact for UPES:

His participation elevated UPES’s global research visibility, strengthened international collaborations, and brought back valuable insights into interdisciplinary healthcare technologies and AI-driven innovations.

We congratulate Dr. Rakesh Ranjan on this prestigious achievement and celebrate the research ecosystem at UPES that continues to empower faculty to shine on the global stage.

5. Welcome to the Beginning of a Thrilling Journey, SoCS UG Batch of 2025!

The SoCS Undergraduate Induction 2025 at UPES kicked off with energy, excitement, and endless possibilities. Over the past week, students were introduced to life at UPES through engaging sessions, meaningful conversations, and a glimpse into the journey that lies ahead.

From forging new friendships to participating in fun and interactive experiences, the induction served as a perfect launchpad to step confidently into the world of computer science and innovation. 🌐

Here's to growth, curiosity, and creating memories that last a lifetime. Welcome to UPES, where learning goes beyond the classroom!

6. Wrapping Up a Journey of Discovery | Summer School 2025

From exploring the elegance of dynamical systems to decoding the complexity behind real-world patterns — the Science Academies' Summer School on Dynamical Systems & Complexity at UPES was a deep dive into insight, innovation, and intellectual exchange.

Three weeks. Twelve experts. Infinite curiosity.

With lectures, conversations, and breakthroughs, we didn't just learn — we expanded our lens on how the world moves, connects, and evolves.

Here's to the ideas sparked, the questions raised, and the paths this experience will shape in the years to come.

7. Welcoming the Future of Tech at SoCS | PG Induction 2025 🖥️🎓

The two-day PG Induction 2025 at the School of Computer Science, UPES, was a vibrant blend of academic insights, innovation, and community building.

From setting the academic tone with UPES leadership, including addresses by Pro Vice Chancellor Dr. Jayasankar Variyar and Registrar Mr. Manish Madaan, to detailed walkthroughs of research-led programs by Associate Dean Dr. Vinod Patidar Patidar – the event laid a strong foundation for our new M.Tech and MCA students.

Key highlights included:

- Academic Orientation: Deep dives into SoCS programs, Centers of Excellence, student chapters, and research opportunities
- Career & Entrepreneurship Focus: Sessions by Career Services and Runway Incubator on navigating industry pathways and startup culture
- Student Well-being & Tools: Interactive sessions on managing PG life, exploring digital platforms, and understanding academic processes
- Innovation in Action: A hands-on workshop on research methodology followed by the 'Pitch Your Idea' challenge that sparked creativity and collaboration

With open mic interactions, high-energy discussions, and collaborative ideation, the PG cohort of 2025 has already begun shaping their journey of purpose and progress.

Here's to a year of building, exploring, and growing together. 🌱\

8. ✨ Announcing Our Next Inspiring Line-up of Speakers at the Science Academies' Summer School on Dynamical Systems and Complexity 2025 ✨

We're delighted to present our next cohort of exceptional speakers who will be sharing their expertise this summer at UPES, Dehradun:

- Prof. M S Santhanam (IISER Pune) – Hamiltonian Dynamics & Time-Series Analysis
- Dr. Haider Hasan Jafri (AMU, Aligarh) – Discrete Dynamical Systems
- Dr. Nirmal Punetha (Amity University Haryana) – Complex Networks
- Dr. Sangeeta Ujjwal (BHU) – Coupled Oscillators, Synchronization & Mult stability
- Dr. Thounaojam Umeshkanta Singh (Bennett University) – Nonlinear Electronic Circuits
- Dr. Shiva Dixit (Amity University Haryana) – Machine Learning for Time-Series Forecasting

Join this dynamic summer school to enhance your understanding of cutting-edge concepts in dynamical systems and complexity.

10. AWS Innovate Week 2025 at UPES | A Trailblazing Milestone for Future-Ready Talent

From May 26th to 30th, 2025, the School of Computer Science at UPES hosted a one-of-its-kind AWS Innovate Week, designed exclusively for 3rd-year students of the Cloud and Software Operations Cluster (SOCS).

For the first time ever, AWS partnered with an academic institution to seamlessly integrate AWS Cloud Quest, track-based AWS bootcamps, a dedicated day on Generative AI, and the competitive AWS Jam Journey back-to-back in a single week—creating an immersive, holistic experience for every participant.

The week at a glance:

Day 1: AWS Cloud Quest Challenge

Day 2 & 3: Track-Based AWS Bootcamps

Day 4: Generative AI on Cloud + Faculty Development Training

Day 5: AWS Jam Journey – Competitive Finale

 This unique chain of activities deepened students' real-world AWS expertise, nurtured collaborative learning, and fostered industry-readiness.

🏆 Celebrating winners & achievers:

1. Cloud Quest Champions: Akshit Bhutani (DevOps), Mitul Tandon (CCVT), Ansh Garg (Full Stack AI)
2. Jam Journey Winners: Bhavesh Kapoor (DevOps), Ayush Chaurasiya (CCVT), Rudra Sharma (Full Stack AI)
3. Special Mentions: Aarushi (DevOps), Arjun (DevOps), Md. Arslan (CCVT), Anurag Negi (DevOps)

🎉 Participants also competed for prize money worth ₹50,000, exclusive AWS swag, and official recognition—reinforcing how SOCS prepares students for life and empowers them to Be Life Ready @ University of Tomorrow.

🚀 This landmark event reaffirms UPES's leadership in delivering future-focused, cloud-native, and AI-driven education.

13. 🎓 Big Announcement from the School of Computer Science!

In this video, Dean Prof. Vijaysekhar Chellaboina shares exciting details about the upcoming Science Academies' Summer School on Dynamical Systems and Complexity (SCDSC-2025) — hosted by the School of Computer Science, UPES, in collaboration with the Science Academies and the Society for Dynamical Systems.

📍 Venue: UPES, Bidholi Campus, Dehradun

📅 Dates: June 23 – July 11, 2025

This three-week immersive program is open to undergraduate, master's, and doctoral students from Physics, Mathematics, and Engineering backgrounds — offering 90+ contact hours of interdisciplinary learning through lectures, experiments, and problem-solving sessions.

💡 Key Topics Include:

1. Chaos and Complexity
2. Machine Learning and Dynamical Systems
3. Time Series Analysis
4. Stability Analysis and Bifurcations
5. Nonlinear Models in Social Systems
6. Synchronization and Control

16. We were thrilled to host an insightful session on "Navigating Your Future: Cloud Computing Career Pathways & AWS" on April 3, 2025, at MAC, UPES Bidholi.

The session was led by Mr. Rohit Sharma, APJC Technical Lead at AWS, India's first AWS Golden Jacket recipient, and a trailblazer in the world of cloud, AI, and DevOps. His perspectives on the evolving cloud ecosystem and emerging career pathways in AWS left our students both informed and inspired.

With 260+ third-year B. Tech CSE students from CCVT, DevOps, and Full Stack specializations in attendance, this marked the fourth session in the series—and our very first offline edition after three impactful online interactions.

Key highlights of the session included:

- ✓ Career pathways in cloud & AWS
- ✓ Real-world industry use cases and best practices
- ✓ Learning with AWS Skill Builder
- ✓ An engaging Q&A session tackling student queries head-on

A heartfelt thank you to Mr. Rohit Sharma for his time and insights, and to all our students for making it such a vibrant and engaging session. Here's to many more such learning experiences!

17. Research Talk on Machine Learning & Earthquake Engineering

UPES hosted Prof. Didier Clouteau, Distinguished Professor at CentraleSupélec, University Paris-Saclay, for a compelling session that blended advanced research with real-world application.

The talk focused on how Machine Learning is transforming Earthquake Engineering, offering attendees deep insights into:

- ✓ AI-driven seismic risk prediction
- ✓ Application of probabilistic & numerical methods in structural analysis
- ✓ Real-world research collaborations and case studies from Europe and beyond
- ✓ Academic and research pathways for students in earthquake resilience and engineering seismology

The session proved to be a rich learning experience for both faculty and students, opening up new perspectives on interdisciplinary innovation in engineering.

18. SoCS & SoAE Brings Experts, Experience & Innovation Together!

At SoCS & SoAE, we believe in preparing students for the future with real-world learning experiences. In an enriching workshop, students had the opportunity to engage with two renowned experts from London South Bank University:

- Prof. Pawel Markiewicz (Senior Lecturer, Medical Imaging & Computer Science) introduced students to AI-powered medical imaging, showing how artificial intelligence is transforming healthcare diagnostics.
- Prof. Saurav Goel (Professor of Manufacturing) conducted a hands-on masterclass on spaghetti structures, demonstrating the principles of structural design, creativity, and resilience.

By integrating AI, innovation, and hands-on design, students explored the intersection of technology, problem-solving, and creativity—gaining knowledge that goes beyond the classroom!

19. From Learners to Builders: Engineering the future with Agentic AI

Organized by the School of Computer Science, UPES, in collaboration with Google Developers Community, Google Cloud AI Lab'26 transformed campus into a live innovation ecosystem where students moved beyond theory and into real-world hashtag AI engineering.

Under the guidance of Mr. Harsh Dattani, Regional Lead, Google Developers Community, Bengaluru, and Mr. Rishiraj Acharya, Google Developer Expert, Kolkata, students didn't just explore AI - they built, tested, and deployed with it.

Through intensive hands-on sessions, students leveraged Gemini 3's 1 Million Context Window and multimodal capabilities to design agentic workflows using the hashtag Gemini CLI and build scalable applications through the Gemini 3 API. They rapidly prototyped solutions in Google AI Studio, deployed live applications on Cloud Run, and experimented with advanced tools like Antigravity - ensuring every concept translated into execution. The experience was not just about learning AI, but about engineering, deploying, and refining real-world, production-ready solutions aligned with industry standards.

Students transitioned from understanding AI concepts to architecting production-ready, deployable solutions - gaining practical exposure aligned with real industry workflows.

At UPES, technology education goes beyond classrooms - we prepare future-ready technologists equipped to design, deploy, and lead.

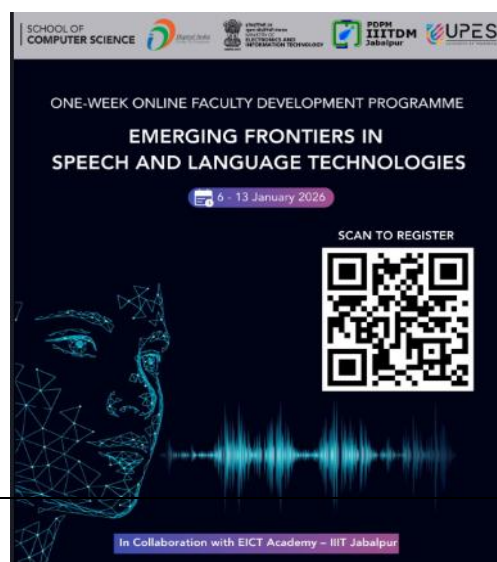

20. Faculty Development Programme on Emerging Frontiers in Speech & Language Technologies

The School of Computer Science , UPES Dehradun, in collaboration with the Electronics & ICT Academy, IIITDM Jabalpur (MeitY, Government of India), invites faculty, researchers, students, and industry professionals to an 8-day Online Faculty Development Programme on Emerging Frontiers in Speech and Language Technologies.

The programme focuses on advancing expertise in speech and language technologies, covering deep learning approaches, multilingual systems, healthcare applications, and real-time human-machine interaction, with an emphasis on both academic and practical perspectives.

- ◆ Programme Dates: 6 – 13 January 2026 (Online)
- ◆ Registration Deadline: 4 January 2026
- ◆ Limited Seats: 200 (First-come, first-served)

Participants will develop a strong understanding of modern speech and language AI architectures, including LSTMs, Transformers, and self-supervised learning. The programme equips them to design and deploy ASR, TTS, Diarization, and multimodal speech systems with real-world datasets. Learners will explore practical applications across healthcare, education, and assistive technologies. The FDP also enables seamless integration of emerging speech technologies into teaching, research, and industry projects.

21. UDBHAV 2025

UPES hosted Udbhav 2025 Level II, the State-Level Hackathon under the Uttarakhand AI Mission, bringing together innovators from 25+ institutes across the state. Participants presented scalable solutions in AI, GenAI, IoT, Blockchain, XR, Robotics and digital governance.

The top five teams were selected to present at Raj Bhawan, where the journey concluded with a felicitation by the Hon'ble Governor.

Proud moment for UPES as Team Carbon Edge received a ₹50,000 cash prize, Lenovo laptops and a special memento.

Two UPES Runway startups, Bridgit Assistive Technologies and Reagvis Labs, were also awarded ₹50,000 each under the UKAIM Startup Pitch Challenge.

A big shoutout to everyone who contributed to making this state-wide innovation initiative a success. A defining innovation milestone for UPES

23. How Are We Shaping the Next Generation of Drone Innovators?

The School of Computer Science, UPES, successfully concluded the 5-Day Drone Technology Boot Camp - “From Fundamentals to Future Applications” - organised in collaboration with NIT Kurukshetra under the MeitY-supported Capacity Building Initiative.

The boot camp delivered an immersive learning experience covering UAV assembly, aerodynamics, AI/ML integration, IoT applications, intelligent surveillance systems, and UAS regulatory frameworks. Blending strong academic foundations with hands-on implementation, the program enabled participants to design, build, and optimise drone systems while gaining exposure to real-world industry applications.

Students worked directly with drone components - assembling frames, integrating motors and propellers, configuring flight controllers, calibrating sensors, connecting ESCs and power distribution systems, and programming onboard systems. From understanding hardware architecture to coding intelligent functionalities, participants gained end-to-end exposure to building and optimising UAV systems.

The initiative also featured expert sessions by distinguished academicians from NIT Kurukshetra and UPES, fostering knowledge exchange and strengthening industry-academia collaboration.

At UPES, we remain committed to delivering experiential learning opportunities that prepare our students to lead in emerging technology domains.

25. From Student to Mentor: A hashtag#Success hashtag#Story Returns to Campus

As part of the कक्षा Initiative, School of Computer Sciences hosted an engaging session with our distinguished alumnus Mr. Anupam Maheshwari on "Essential hashtag#Scientific Developments in Transformers for hashtag#LLMs."

His interaction sparked curiosity, encouraged responsible innovation, and gave students a clear glimpse into real-world, scalable, human-centered hashtag#AI hashtag#development. They gained direct insights into how modern AI systems are built, explored the science behind transformers, and engaged with a global AI leader shaping the hashtag#future of intelligent systems.

A proud UPES hashtag#Alumni and now Director – AI & ML at v4c.ai, his journey reflects the excellence, curiosity, and ambition UPES in stills in every learner.

By connecting students with accomplished alumni, UPES continues to build future-ready technologists, innovators, and leaders of tomorrow.

27. Unlock the Future of #Cybersecurity – Command Offensive, #Defensive & #AI Frontiers!

Elevate your cybersecurity acumen with CyberX: The Next-Gen Security Series, curated by the Centre of Cybersecurity, UPES Dehradun, in collaboration with Mile2.

This immersive series spans advanced penetration testing, threat intelligence, cloud security, and AI-powered #cyber #defence, equipping you with the tactical and strategic expertise to detect, defend, and disrupt adversarial operations in complex digital ecosystems.

Learning Outcomes

- Offensive Arena: Execute advanced penetration testing, reconnaissance, network enumeration, and exploit development across multi-layered systems.
- Defensive Shield: Architect resilient networks, perform incident response, and implement robust threat mitigation strategies.
- Intelligence Hub: Engineer detection mechanisms, leverage threat intelligence, and secure cloud-native infrastructures.
- AI Frontiers: Assess AI-driven threat vectors and fortify contemporary AI systems against adversarial attacks.

School of Design

1. Celebrating a visionary leader on the hashtag#global stage. 🌐

We proudly congratulate Prof. Pradyumna Vyas on his appointment as the President of the World Design Organization.

From shaping the landscape of design education in India to now leading the global design community, his journey reflects hashtag#vision, hashtag#purpose, and hashtag#creativity at its finest.

As an Academic Council Member at UPES, his guidance greatly enriches our design school's ecosystem - where ideas thrive at the intersection of hashtag#creativity, hashtag#technology, and hashtag#innovation. His global recognition inspires our students to think boldly, reminding them that they too can design the hashtag#future.

Here's to a visionary leader making an impact on the world stage.

2. #Global Voices, Local Impact !

When global leaders walk into our studios, they bring with them perspectives that reshape how our students see hashtag#Design.

During his recent visit to UPES, Dr. Gjoko Muratovski, Chief Innovation Officer – Icona Design Group and our UPES School of Design BoS member, led an immersive masterclass for our foundation design hashtag#students. From his personal career journey to the design portfolio of Icona Group, he walked them through:

- ✦ The craft of hashtag#cardesign — from Italy to China
- ✦ How design works across hashtag#Industries and hashtag#Cultures
- ✦ Approaches to building a hashtag#creative journey with hashtag#purpose

At the School of Design, UPES, such workshops are more than just learning moments - they are steps toward our vision of building a truly hashtag#transdisciplinary design school, where education is hands-on, global, and deeply human.

Link: https://www.linkedin.com/posts/school-of-design-upes-university_dr-gjoko-muratovski-workshop-activity-7376134341690650624-7GDm?utm_source=social_share_send&utm_medium=member_desktop_web&rcm=ACoAAEBwVRkBiWdIxreZK0QZTERiS5qQilBX1d8

3. Designing the Future, Together ✨

At the School of Design, UPES, every interaction is part of a larger hashtag strategy — to position design as a driver of hashtag#transformation across industries, societies, and hashtag#future.

When we welcomed Dr. Gjoko Muratovski, Chief Innovation Officer – Icona Design Group, and an esteemed BoS member at UPES, the campus turned into a living laboratory of ideas. With our foundation students, he opened up his own design journey, nudging them to view their creative paths not as linear timelines but as evolving stories shaped by curiosity, hashtag#culture, and courage. In the studios of Mobility & hashtag#VehicleDesign, he opened conversations around global design practices and what it means to design for diverse contexts and users. With our faculty, he reimagined the very idea of pedagogy, provoking fresh thinking on how to embed hashtag#innovation and prepare students for futures that cannot yet be defined. And in a strategic conversation with Dean Bhaskar Bhatt, he explored how UPES can strengthen its hashtag#vision of a truly hashtag#transdisciplinary design school, where design intersects with law, hashtag#business, hashtag#engineering, hashtag#healthsciences, and beyond.

Somewhere in between these exchanges, a new format of storytelling was quietly being crafted — one that will soon find its voice and take our hashtag#thoughtleadership to a whole new stage.

4. Exploring the Horizons of Service Design at UPES School of Design!

This week, our classrooms transformed into live studios of hashtag#collaboration, hashtag#curiosity, and hashtag#creativity as students immersed themselves in a hashtag#ServiceDesign workshop led by Shaon Sengupta (Country Head, Kyndryl Vital India) and Saksham P. (Sr. Lead – Design Strategy, Kyndryl).

The session began with a simple yet powerful provocation: “So What?”

From there, students worked hands-on—mapping hashtag#ecosystems, challenging assumptions, and co-creating ideas that bridged hashtag#business, hashtag#technology, and human experience.

What made this engagement truly special was its transdisciplinary approach: Service Design as a way of thinking beyond silos, preparing students to become agnostic problem-solvers who can shape impact across industries and communities.

A big thank you to Shaon Sengupta and Saksham P. for sharing their expertise and inspiring our students to view Service Design as a powerful lever for the future of innovation.

5. Five days. Eight workshops. Countless sparks of imagination.

Week Zero at the School of Design wasn't just an induction. It was a creative ignition.

From flying drones and crafting wearable stories to painting murals, building games, exploring comics, and stepping into immersive virtual worlds — students didn't just attend. They designed, experimented and expressed.

Led by visionary mentors and powered by bold ideas, this was a celebration of curiosity, courage and creation.

Here's to new beginnings, brave questions, messy drafts and magical outcomes.
Your design journey has officially begun and it looks incredible already.

6. 🎨 The SOD Induction was a vibrant start to an inspiring journey, where fresh minds met creative mentors, friendships sparked over shared dreams, and the world of design opened its doors to new possibilities.

From discovering the campus to diving into sessions filled with purpose, this was just the beginning.

Here's to a year of learning, making, and designing the future, one bold idea at a time.

7. 🎨 MEET YOUR MENTORS FOR WEEK ZERO 🎨

This July, we're handing over the creative reins to some of the most celebrated names in design, storytelling, tech, and art.

From flying drones and wearable art to AR, comics, theatre, and mural painting — get ready to learn from the best and launch your design journey with impact!

✦ Here's who's guiding your first creative mission:

- ◆ Comic Your Chaos with visual storyteller Aditya Damle
- ◆ Immersive Spaces & AR/VR with technologist Sai K Mulpuru
- ◆ Boardlords – Game. Design. Dominate. with game designer Shradha Jain
- ◆ Form. Flow. Create. with human kinetics expert Dipika Vijay
- ◆ Design for Safety with designers Lavendra Shukla and Nitin Sharma
- ◆ Wall'd Up – Paint. Play. Perform. with muralist Ranjit Dahiya
- ◆ Design to Adorn with wearable art expert Baljinder Kaur and Shakuntala
- ◆ Drone it like you own it with Drone Pilot Monty

8. 🌈 WEEK ZERO is HERE & it's anything but basic 🧐🔥

School of Design brings you the ultimate kickoff — where orientation meets imagination and chaos gets a creative twist ✨

Swipe to preview the madness: real icebreakers, open mics that dare you to shine (or scream), and design games that'll twist your brain 🌀

Decode, create, perform, play — it's weird, wild, and totally unforgettable. From mystery missions to theatre labs, this is just the beginning.

Fresh starts, plot twists, and main character energy — your designer era starts now. Come confused. Leave iconic.

9. Week Zero at the School of Design was more than an induction. It was an explosion of ideas, experiments, and connections.
From drones to wearable art, murals to comics, games to AR/VR, safety design to human kinetics — every corner buzzed with creativity and collaboration.

Here's the journey, all in one frame.
The beginning of something extraordinary.

10. Driving Sustainable Change Through Design Thinking 🌱🌍

We're proud to share that Abhishek Kumar, Assistant Professor at the School of Design, presented his paper at the prestigious 9th International Conference of Marketing, Strategy and Policy hosted by Kingston Business School, Kingston University, London.

Held on 5th–6th June 2025, the conference brought together global academics, policy experts, and industry leaders to discuss transitions toward sustainability in the fashion industry. Abhishek's paper, "Circular business models and the role of stakeholders in driving circularity in the fashion industry," explored how stakeholder collaboration and innovative thinking can shape a more responsible, circular fashion ecosystem.

Representing UPES on an international academic platform, he brought meaningful insights into how design and business strategy can come together to create long-term impact.

11. 🛒 What to pack for Week Zero at UPES School of Design?

Not clothes (okay, maybe a few), but these essentials ↓

- ✓ Playfulness – because creativity begins where rules end
- ✓ Observation – the best ideas are hiding in plain sight
- ✓ Willingness to learn – you're stepping into a whole new world
- ✓ Excitement – for drones, theatre labs, comic making, and so much more
- ✓ Curiosity – to explore, question, and imagine beyond
- ✓ Courage – to make mistakes, take risks, and start fresh

📌 Week Zero isn't just an orientation. It's your creative soft launch 🚀

From AR/VR to wearable art, it's five days of pure design energy, new friendships, and ideas waiting to explode ✨

12. UPES at the Forefront of Design Education.

We're proud to share that Prof. Jayant Sankrityayana from the Mobility & Vehicle Design Department, School of Design, represented UPES at the 19th Styling and Design Conclave hosted by the Society of Indian Automobile Manufacturers (SIAM) in New Delhi on 26th March 2025.

Prof. Jayant was invited as a panelist for a discussion titled Fostering Industry-Academia Interaction, chaired by Mr. Anuj Prasad (Desmania Design), alongside prominent figures from the Indian design academia and the automobile industry.

He highlighted the dynamic steps being taken at UPES to keep the curriculum aligned with evolving industry demands—focusing on trans-disciplinary learning, real-world applications, and stronger industry participation.

This recognition by SIAM reinforces the growing impact of UPES in shaping future-ready design professionals and strengthens our ongoing commitment to collaborate meaningfully with the automobile industry.

13. Phase 1 of the Faculty Development Programmer (FDP) on Case Writing & Publishing successfully wrapped up! 🎉

Led by Dr. Deval Kartik, Senior Case Writer at HEC Paris, Doha, this in-person workshop was an immersive learning experience, equipping faculty members with the skills to craft compelling case studies that bridge academia and industry.

Key takeaways from this phase:

- ✅ Understanding the fundamentals of case writing in design research
- ✅ Structuring case narratives using storytelling techniques
- ✅ Hands-on mentoring, peer feedback, and refining case drafts
- ✅ Developing strategies for publishing in academic and industry forums

A big thank you to Dr. Deval for sharing her expertise and making this an engaging and insightful journey. Looking forward to Phase 2, where we take these case studies forward with online mentoring and refinement sessions! 🚀 📖

14. From Marvel Comics U to the Studio: Sketch Verse at the School of Design, UPES

The School of Design, UPES, recently hosted acclaimed comic artist Tadam Gyadu, known for his work with hashtag#Marvel Comics, for a three-day intensive masterclass on live illustration and graphic storytelling.

Through real-time hashtag#sketch demonstrations, students gained applied exposure to professional comic creation workflows - from anatomical structuring and dynamic posing to panel composition and narrative sequencing.

Key learning outcomes included the ability to translate character concepts into industry-ready comic formats, construct dynamic action poses with anatomical precision, and understand panel flow and visual pacing integral to professional comic storytelling. Students also executed live sketches under production-style time constraints while developing portfolio-grade illustrations refined through direct expert critique - ensuring both creative depth and professional preparedness.

The programme culminated in a curated exhibition of student artworks, showcasing refined compositions that reflected measurable progression over three days.

At UPES, industry interface is not symbolic - it is structural. By learning directly from practitioners shaping global creative franchises, students move beyond theory into professional preparedness.

15. #Designing the Future of Gaming at UPES

At UPES School of Design, learning goes far beyond the classroom. In collaboration with JioGames, our campus became a live design lab where students gained real-world exposure to the world of hashtag#gaming, hashtag#animation, and VFX.

This wasn't just playing games - it was hands-on exploration of how games are ideated, structured, and built using industry tools, engines, and workflows. Students partnered with experts, learned core hashtag#software skills, and experienced cloud-based design and interactive tech first-hand.

By bridging hashtag#creative hashtag#thinking with cutting-edge hashtag#technology, this collaboration helped students understand the future of immersive experiences - from concept to execution to career potential. It empowered them with the mindset and skills that leading studios and global studios demand.

16. VALORANT Campus Cup arrives at UPES, Dehradun.

Two days of structured, high-intensity competitive play where campus teams step into a professional esports environment and experience what it takes to compete at the next level.

More than a tournament, VCC continues to build a strong college-to-esports pipeline, nurturing competitive talent and organised play across campuses.

17. Where Design Meets Legacy: A hashtag#Masterclass to Remember

At UPES School of Design, creativity doesn't stay confined to classrooms — it grows through shared passions, meaningful conversations, and lifelong connections.

We were honoured to host Mr. Snehanshu Mukherjee, celebrated architect, educator, and co-founder of TEAM (Team for Engineering Architecture & Management), for an inspiring and deeply insightful session with our Interior and Retail Space Design students.

Students gained valuable insights into hashtag#human-centric design, hashtag#sustainable materials, and practical hashtag#problem-solving, while interacting closely with the architect and receiving personalised guidance.

What made his visit truly special was a warm reunion with his long-time friend and fellow School of Planning and Architecture (SPA), New Delhi alumnus - Mr. vikram mathur, now a esteemed faculty at UPES.

Two architects from the same alma mater, reunited to inspire the next generation of designers. Moments like these make UPES a place where industry meets academia and ideas truly grow.

School of Health Science & Technology

1. Advancing Nutrition for a Healthier Nation

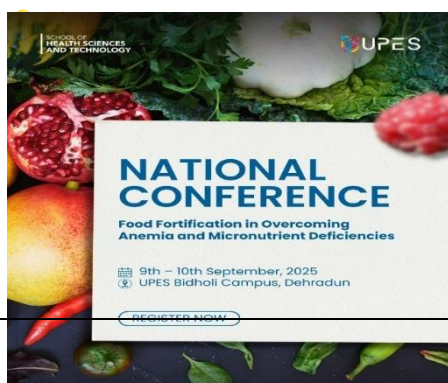

The School of Health Sciences and Technology at UPES proudly announces the National Conference on Food Fortification in Overcoming Anemia and Micronutrient Deficiencies.

 Date: 9th–10th September, 2025

 Venue: UPES Bidholi Campus, Dehradun

This conference will unite researchers, industry leaders, and innovators to exchange knowledge, explore biotechnology-driven interventions, and present pioneering solutions for the nutritional challenges of our growing population.

Let's collaborate, innovate, and work towards a future where better nutrition empowers every life.

2. 🌟 Utthan 2025 – Annual Fest of UPES School Of Health Sciences & Technology, UPES 🌟

A vibrant celebration of hashtag#knowledge, hashtag#innovation, and achievement, Utthan 2025 brought together students, faculty, and industry leaders at the School of Health Sciences & Technology, UPES. The main highlights of the event were:

- ◆ Inspiring keynote by Mr. Velmurugan Sonai VP – Global operations, Sun Pharma
- ◆ Awards & recognitions celebrating faculty and student achievements
- ◆ Student-led exhibitions, including ‘Cook Without Fire’, showcasing hashtag#creativity and hashtag#healthyliving
- ◆ Insightful conversations on hashtag#research, hashtag#enterprise, and innovation around the themes of hashtag#People, hashtag#Planet, and hashtag#Progress

🌟 Key Takeaways:

- ◆ Recognition fuels hashtag#inspiration – celebrating achievers motivates the entire community
- ◆ Innovation is not just in labs, but in everyday practices like hashtag#sustainable cooking
- ◆ Collaboration between hashtag#academia and industry is vital for building hashtag#future -ready health professionals

With Utthan 2025, SOHST once again reinforced its vision of shaping impact-driven leaders in health sciences. 🌍💡

3. A New Chapter Begins at SOHST 🌟

The halls of SOHST came alive as fresh minds walked in with curiosity, courage, and commitment. Over two immersive days, the induction programme welcomed undergraduate and postgraduate students into a world where health sciences meet innovation, purpose, and impact.

From a warm address by Vice Chancellor Dr. Ram Sharma and Dean Dr. Padma Venkant, to vibrant cultural showcases, interactive mixers, and sessions on academic structure, student welfare, mental well-being, and digital learning — every moment was designed to inform, inspire, and ignite a sense of belonging.

Students engaged with cluster heads, discovered career pathways, explored wellness resources, and celebrated talent through creativity and connection.

Here's to building a future of compassion and care — one student, one discovery, one breakthrough at a time.

Welcome to the School of Health Sciences & Technology. Welcome to UPES. 🌱

4. 🧬 ✨ Exploring the Future of Precision Medicine!

Students of School of Health Sciences & Technology had an insightful session with Dr. Vannajan Sanghiran Lee from the University of Malaya, Malaysia, on Quantum Computing in Precision Medicine. 🌐 🔬

The session shed light on how quantum computing is opening new doors in the field of drug repurposing, gene search, and molecular dynamics. Dr. Lee shared her expertise on how advanced computational tools can accelerate the process of identifying new uses for existing drugs — making healthcare more precise, personalized, and efficient. 🚀 💊

Key Insights & Student Learnings:

- ✅ Importance of Quantum Computing in healthcare research
- ✅ Emerging trends in Drug Repurposing
- ✅ Real-world applications of Molecular Dynamics
- ✅ How interdisciplinary technologies are reshaping the future of medicine

A big thank you to Dr. Vannajan Sanghiran Lee for her valuable insights and knowledge-sharing session! 🌟

5. Ayurveda & Immunity: Bridging Tradition with Science 🌿

The SoHST Symposium brought together renowned experts to explore the power of Ayurveda in enhancing immunity and overall well-being. Through insightful discussions, our panelists shared how ancient wisdom, backed by modern research, can pave the way for holistic healthcare solutions.

This symposium was more than just a conversation—it was a stepping stone for researchers and students to delve deeper into integrative medicine, fostering innovation and a scientific approach to traditional healing.

At SoHST, we are committed to shaping the future of healthcare by empowering students with knowledge that bridges the past and the future. 🚀

6. 🎉 We're thrilled to share that SoHST, UPES successfully concluded a 5-day Faculty Development Program on "Healthcare Analytics & Life Sciences with SAS" in collaboration with SAS Institute India!

Over 30 faculty members from diverse disciplines including biotechnology, microbiology, pharmaceutical sciences, food & nutrition, and clinical research were trained in cutting-edge SAS tools such as SAS Studio, Visual Analytics, Model, and Viya. They explored data cleaning, statistical testing, machine learning, deep learning, and more, earning SAS Learner Badges as a testament to their learning journey.

This marks an exciting step forward for integrating analytics into our curricula because when faculty upskills, the entire academic ecosystem grows stronger! 🌟

7. A Space Built for Future Healthcare Leaders

The School of Health Sciences & Technology Studies (SOHTS), UPES, has inaugurated a new dedicated Research Laboratory — a strategic addition to its expanding research ecosystem.

Conceived to advance rigorous scientific inquiry and interdisciplinary exploration, the facility will enable structured experimentation, data-driven analysis, and innovation-led problem-solving across emerging domains in health sciences. It strengthens the School's focus on bridging foundational science with translational healthcare solutions.

To mark the inauguration, UG and PG students, along with research scholars, showcased key research domains, published outcomes, student-led startups, and health-tech innovations. Ongoing and upcoming projects supported through extramural research grants were also presented, reflecting the School's growing research depth and funding momentum.

With this expansion, SOHTS reinforces its commitment to nurturing research-intensive, innovation-driven health professionals equipped to thrive in a tech-enabled, evidence-driven healthcare ecosystem.

8. Experiential learning beyond the classroom.

B.Pharm (First & Final Year) students from the School of Health Sciences and Technology, UPES, visited the Centre for Aromatic Plants, Selaqui, Dehradun, Uttarakhand (CAP), Selaqui, Dehradun, for a hands-on academic–industry immersion.

Through direct interaction with scientists and live demonstrations, students understood how medicinal and aromatic plants are cultivated, processed, and transformed into market-ready products. They observed essential oil extraction techniques, quality testing protocols, and formulation insights—connecting pharmacognosy, phytochemistry, and industrial pharmacy to real-world applications.

Engaging with Dr. Nirpendra K. Chauhan, Dr. Anil Chauhan, and Dr. Arvind Kumar helped students appreciate research pathways, regulatory considerations, and innovation in plant-based product development.

The outcome: stronger practical understanding, improved analytical thinking, clearer career pathways in R&D and phytopharma, and greater confidence in translating theory into industry practice.

9. WCHST 2026 | Advancing Global Health Through Science & Technology

The World Congress on Health Sciences and Technology (WCHST 2026), hosted by the School of Health Sciences & Technology, UPES, invites abstract submissions from the global healthcare and research community.

Aligned with the theme “Transforming Health through Research and Innovation”, the congress brings together researchers, clinicians, technologists, industry leaders, and policymakers to address emerging healthcare challenges through interdisciplinary science and technology.

Calling healthcare PhD scholars, researchers, clinicians, and academicians—if your work advances health outcomes, healthcare systems, or translational research, WCHST 2026 provides a global platform to present evidence, foster collaboration, and drive real-world impact.

10. Thought Leadership Through Global Academic Collaboration

UPES continues to expand its global academic footprint through faculty-led engagement at leading international universities. Such global assignments reflect the university's growing academic credibility and its commitment to contributing to teaching excellence, hashtag#research, and hashtag#interdisciplinary exchange across international academic ecosystems

Congratulations to Prof. Dr Dhruv Kumar, School of Health Sciences and Technology, on his appointment as Visiting Professor at the University of Bologna, Italy. During his visit, he delivered masterclasses in hashtag#cancer research and hashtag#nanotechnology and advanced collaborative research initiatives, strengthening long-term academic and research partnerships.

These initiatives underscore UPES's role in shaping globally connected, research-driven academic ecosystems.

11. Masterclass Spotlight: Bridging the Gap Between Knowledge and Public Health Action

At the School of Health Sciences & Technology, every masterclass is designed to bridge the gap between theory and real-world public health challenges.

We recently hosted a compelling session on “Infectious Disease Burden and Challenges in Control and Management”, led by Dr. Jayanti Singh, Public Health Specialist (Program Development & Implementation).

Through practical insights and case-based discussions, Dr. Singh highlighted critical public health priorities:

- The rising threat of antimicrobial resistance (AMR)
- Ongoing challenges in tuberculosis control
- The indispensable role of community participation
- Strategies for building stronger, more responsive disease-control systems

This masterclass not only deepened our students’ knowledge but also inspired them to think like future public health leaders—equipped to design interventions that drive real, lasting impact in society.

12. Advancing Frontiers in Public Health: A Masterclass on the Future of Universal Influenza Vaccines

The School of Health Sciences & Technology at UPES hosted an illuminating guest masterclass by Dr. Suresh Mittal, Distinguished Professor of Virology, Purdue University, on “Prospective of a Universal Influenza Vaccine.”

The session provided our learners with a sophisticated understanding of:

- ◆ The global disease burden of influenza and the scientific constraints of existing vaccine models
- ◆ Emerging research trajectories shaping universal and cross-protective vaccine platforms
- ◆ The convergence of genomics, molecular virology, and immuno technology in next-generation vaccine design
- ◆ Evolving career pathways in translational research, public health virology, and biomedical innovation

Through direct engagement with a globally respected expert, students gained insights that transcend the classroom - empowering students to think critically, innovate fearlessly, and contribute meaningfully to the evolving landscape of public health and biomedical research.

13. Empowering the Next Generation of Food Safety Leaders | hashtag#FOSTAC Training at UPES

In an era dominated by packaged foods, ensuring safety isn't just regulation - it's responsibility.

The School of Health Sciences and Technology, UPES Dehradun, conducted an Advanced-Level FOSTAC Food Safety Supervisor Course, certified by FSSAI, bringing together experts from hashtag#FDA Uttarakhand and FSSAI-accredited trainers.

Mr. Ganesh Kandwal, Deputy Commissioner, FDA Uttarakhand, highlighted the challenges of India's evolving food ecosystem, while Mr. Prem Chand Sharma, Certified FOSTAC Trainer, introduced hashtag#FSSAI's key initiatives - RUCO (Repurpose Used Cooking Oil), BHOG (Blissful Hygienic Offering to God), and Food Fortification - linking hashtag#sustainability with hashtag#safety.

Through immersive learning, participants:

- Gained hands-on expertise in hashtag#foodhygiene, contamination control, labeling, and packaging.
- Explored how science, sustainability, and ethics shape hashtag#foodsafety.
- Understood how policy, hashtag#innovation, and regulation ensure consumer well-being.
- Strengthened their capacity to champion India's vision of a safe, healthy, and sustainable food future.

At UPES, learning goes beyond classrooms - bridging academics with real-world impact.

14. On the occasion of World Pharmacists Day, the School of Health Science and Technology hosted an inspiring session with Dr. Akram Ahmad, PhD (CEO, Academically Global), where undergraduate, postgraduate, and Ph.D. students explored hashtag#global hashtag#career pathways in the pharmaceutical industry.

Dr. Akram shared valuable insights on:

- ◆ Key skills employers seek in Indian graduates
- ◆ Networking strategies for global opportunities
- ◆ Entrepreneurship prospects in India
- ◆ Higher education options in India vs. abroad

The interactive Q&A inspired students to engage actively and prepared them to navigate their professional journeys with confidence.

15. Food Security as the Cornerstone of Resilience

The School of Health Sciences and Technology (SoHST), UPES was proud to host an inspiring session on “Food Security, Health Sciences and Technology: Pathways to a Nourished Society” as part of the Himalaya Calling 2025 Global Summit.

We were privileged to learn from eminent scientific and thought leaders who brought diverse insights on food security and health:

- ◆ Dr. Sudesh K. Yadav (Director, CSIR-IHBT, Palampur) – Pioneering research on Himalayan bioresources, climate change impacts, and microbial enzymes for high-altitude waste management.
- ◆ John Casillas (Executive Director, Global Rise; Fellow Emeritus, World Bank) – Global learnings from Uganda’s Rwenzori Mountains, introducing the transformative concept of Digital Food Systems.

- ◆ Padmashree Vaidya Balendu Prakash – Over four decades of Ayurvedic expertise, treating near-incurable diseases like pancreatitis with native medicinal plants, while advocating scientific validation of traditional knowledge.
- ◆ ROHIT JOSHI, PhD, MNASI, MPTCAI (Principal Scientist, CSIR-IHBT, Palampur) – Showcased Plant Tissue Culture as a vital tool to conserve endemic species and cultivate medicinally important plants.

16. Building a Healthier Tomorrow through Research & Collaboration

The School of Health Sciences and Technology (SoHST), UPES successfully hosted a two-day National Conference on Food Fortification to Combat Anemia and Micronutrient Deficiencies on September 9 - 10, 2025. The conference brought together policymakers, scientists, academicians, and industry experts to deliberate on innovative approaches for nutrition security.

Key Highlights discussed during the session

- Dr. M.S. Vishen, Chief Marketing Officer, Dept. of Food & Civil Supplies, Govt. of Uttarakhand, highlighted government initiatives and collaborative efforts with UNDP and UPES to tackle malnutrition.
- Dr. shariqua yunus khan , UN World Food Programme, shared insights on the role of WFP in school feeding programs and fortification mandates.
- Dr. sumit Arora , Principal Scientist, ICAR-NDRI, discussed fortification of milk with micronutrients.
- Prof. Beela G.K., Kerala Agriculture University, emphasized the importance of dispelling myths and building consumer awareness on fortified products.
- Ganesh Kandwal, Deputy Commissioner, FDA Dehradun, underlined the regulatory role of FDA in ensuring safety and quality of fortified food.

School of LAW

1. Celebrating the enlightening Chai Par Kanooni Charcha, organized by the Legal Aid Clinic, School of Law, UPES on 29 August 2025. The event commenced with a warm welcome extended to the Legal Aid Clinic volunteers and the university's dedicated support staff. Attendees were briefed on the clinic's vision, setting the stage for a compelling discourse led by Assistant Professor Abhijeet Anand.

He delved into the critical issue of domestic violence, shedding light on its profound impact and addressing the growing concern of false domestic violence allegations, a topic particularly pertinent to the university's support staff. The session proved to be both informative and empowering, equipping participants with valuable legal insights and fostering a sense of community engagement.

The Legal Aid Clinic remains committed to organizing similar initiatives that promote legal awareness and empower all members of the university community at large.

2. The School of Law, UPES, is proud to share that four of its law students presented their research papers at the Second Edition of the International Conference on Climate Justice and Sustainable Environment, 2025, organized by the GNLU Centre for Environment, Sustainability, and Climate Justice (GCESCJ) from July 25–27, 2025.

This prestigious conference brought together scholars, practitioners, and experts from across the globe to deliberate on pressing challenges surrounding climate justice and sustainable environmental practices. The participation of our students in this international forum reflects their commitment to impactful legal research and their growing engagement with contemporary global issues.

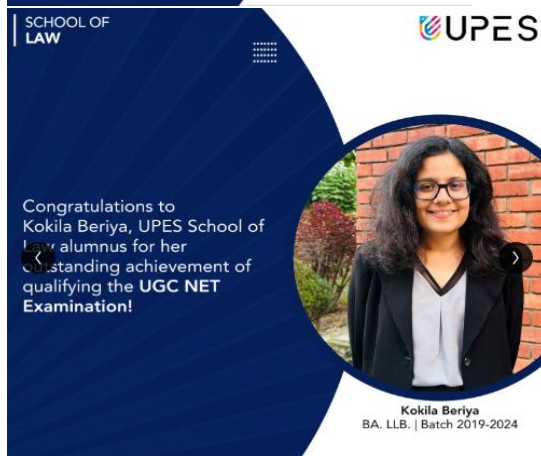

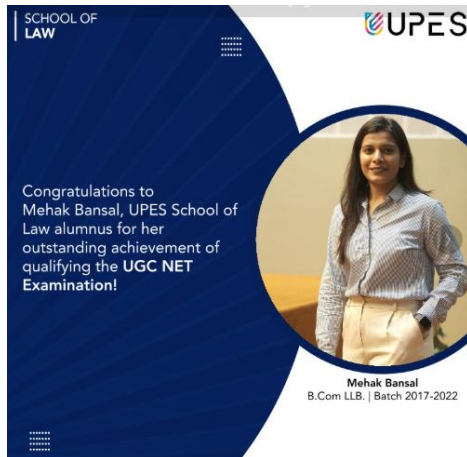

The School of Law congratulates the students on this achievement and takes pride in encouraging and supporting such meaningful academic contributions that reinforce the role of law in shaping a sustainable and equitable future.

3. The School of Law is proud to congratulate our alumni for their outstanding achievement in successfully qualifying the UGC NET Examination 2025.

Their dedication, perseverance, and commitment to excellence have been recognized at the national level, reflecting the School of Law's focus on nurturing capable and accomplished legal professionals. We extend our heartiest congratulations and best wishes for their continued success in their academic and professional journeys.

4. The School of Law takes immense pride in announcing the remarkable accomplishments of our alumni who have been recognized with prestigious scholarships for pursuing advanced studies in law internationally.

We extend our heartiest congratulations to:

Saksham Pradyot (BBA LL.B 2010-15), who has been awarded a scholarship to pursue an LL.M. at the College of Arts and Law, University of Birmingham, United Kingdom. Saksham's achievement reflects his exemplary academic journey and continued pursuit of excellence in the legal field.

Krishna Singh (BA LL.B 2018-23), who has been awarded a scholarship to pursue an LL.M. at the Geneva Academy of International Humanitarian Law and Human Rights, Geneva, Switzerland. This recognition is a testament to Krishna's exceptional academic performance, dedication, and commitment to advancing the principles of international humanitarian law and human rights.

These accomplishments underscore the School of Law's commitment to nurturing talented legal professionals who contribute meaningfully to global legal scholarship and practice. We congratulate Krishna and Saksham on their well-deserved success and wish them the very best in their future endeavors.

- Justice in the digital age is complex, but it thrives on insight. Urgent questions demand answers: How do we regulate AI? How do we hold digital platforms accountable? How do we safeguard rights in a hyper-connected world?

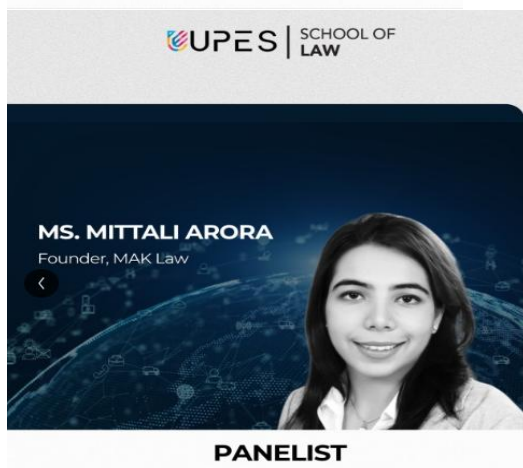

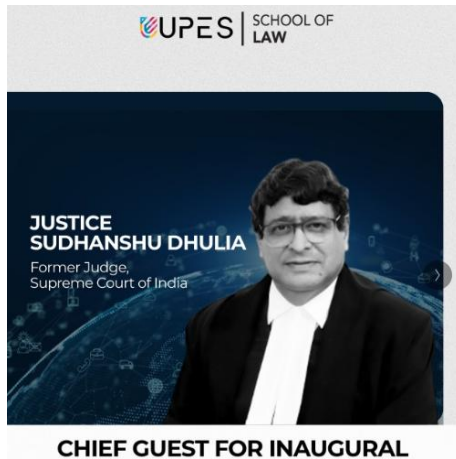

The International Conference on New Age Legal Dynamics, hosted by UPES School of Law, convenes a distinguished cohort of legal luminaries, thought leaders, and global experts, including eminent jurists and scholars.

They will delve into the pressing issues of law and technology through engaging panel discussions, masterclasses, paper presentations, and more:

- ✦ From Likes to Liability - Regulating Influence in Real Time
- ✦ Risk, Rights, and Remedies - Shaping the Next Chapter of AI Governance

This is where ideas meet action, and where the future of justice in a digital era takes shape.

- UPES School of Law recently hosted an insightful session titled “Mastering Counselling Skills in Law” with Mr. Vineet Vij, General Counsel & Chief Legal Officer at Tech Mahindra on 12th September,

From understanding the nuances of client communication to developing empathy and trust, the session highlighted how counselling forms the backbone of effective legal practice. Students gained first-hand knowledge of the skills every lawyer must master to succeed whether in corporate boardrooms or courtrooms.

A huge thank you to Mr. Vij for inspiring our budding legal professionals and reminding us that lawyering is as much about listening as it is about advising.

12. We had the privilege of hosting Mr. Mayank Bhardwaj (VP - Legal, Hexa Climate) and Mr. Arpit Jain (Chief of Staff, Hexa Climate) for an engaging interaction with students of School of Law and the School of Business at UPES.

Hexa Climate, backed by global infrastructure investor I-Squared Capital, is a leading renewable energy platform delivering net-zero and decarbonization solutions across solar, wind, and battery energy storage, while also offering carbon offset solutions.

What made the session truly special was welcoming back our alumnus, Mr. Mayank Bhardwaj, whose mentoring gave students both clarity on career pathways and the confidence to aim higher. His journey stood as a powerful reminder of how perseverance translates into achievement.

Equally enriching was Mr. Arpit Jain's thought-provoking session on the renewable energy and sustainability landscape. His ability to simplify complex industry concepts and connect them to real-world impact left students motivated, curious, and inspired.

The insights, warmth, and encouragement shared by Team Hexa have left a lasting impression. A heartfelt thank you we look forward to many more such collaborations that inspire, engage, and connect learning with life.

14. The Intellectual Property Rights Cell (CIPR) & Runway , UPES in collaboration with FICCI cordially invites you to participate in our workshop titled “Fostering Innovation and Growth in MSMEs & Startups through IPR” on 3rd September 2025 at UPES, Dehradun.

As the innovation landscape evolves rapidly, intellectual property rights have become indispensable for startups and MSMEs seeking competitive advantage, resilience, and access to funding. This workshop aims to convene policymakers, industry experts, startups and academics to discuss the pivotal role of IPR in strengthening this vital ecosystem.

The workshop will encompass three key sessions: The first will explore the critical role of intellectual property in the startup ecosystem, highlighting how effective IP management empowers startups to protect their innovations and gain competitive advantage. The second session will focus on government initiatives and global trends shaping the IPR landscape, providing participants with insights on policy support and international best practices. The final session will delve into technology commercialization, licensing, technology transfer, and fundraising, offering practical guidance on how start-ups can monetize their intellectual assets and secure the necessary funding to scale.

15. Every great researcher begins with a question. 🌱

For Virendra Pratap Singh Rathod, that question was: What happens when tradition collides with law?

Driven by curiosity and passion, he co-authored and presented a powerful paper — “Persecuting Tradition: The Socio-Legal Victimization of Traditional Healers in Tanzania” — at the prestigious World Conference on Criminology.

Hosted by O.P. Jindal Global University in collaboration with the International Society for Criminology (ISC SIC), Paris, this global platform became his stage to share perspectives that truly matter. 🌍 📖

At UPES, we believe learning doesn't stop at classrooms — it expands into the world. And Virendra's achievement is proof that our students are not just learners, but contributors to global change. 🌟

25. Legal Odyssey 2025 - A Journey of Law, Learning, and Lifelong Bonds 🌍 ✨

What began as a first step into the world of legal education blossomed into a powerful and unforgettable experience for every student who took part in Legal Odyssey 2025. Over the course of inspiring sessions, engaging activities, and meaningful conversations, this event became more than just an orientation, it became a celebration of purpose, community, and passion for the law.

Freshers explored the campus not just with curiosity, but with confidence solving clues in treasure hunts, sharing laughter in icebreakers, speaking up during open mics, and stepping into their identities as young legal minds. Whether it was a quiet conversation under the trees, a bold moment on stage, or simply finding someone to sit with in a new space Legal Odyssey was filled with moments that will linger far beyond these days.

At its heart, Legal Odyssey is about beginnings. Not just the beginning of a semester, but of friendships, dreams, perspectives, and the unwavering pursuit of justice. This journey has only just begun and already, it is filled with courage, connection, and promise.

28. As part of this year's enriching Legal Odyssey journey at UPES School of Law, we invite you to step into a space where the worlds of law and cinema collide, provoke thought, and inspire dialogue. "Reel Issues - Real Dialogue" is not just a screening, it's a platform where narratives from the screen are unpacked through a legal lens. 📺

From compelling courtroom dramas to stories of constitutional crises, cinema has long reflected the complexities of law, justice, and human rights. Through this session, we aim to explore how film can illuminate legal realities, question social structures, and spark meaningful conversations within the legal fraternity.

📍 Venue: MAC, Bidholi

📅 Date: 8th July, 2025

🕒 Time: 04:00 PM - 04:30 PM

Join us for an immersive session that goes beyond the screen, bringing critical legal perspectives into focus through the power of storytelling.

56. "Celebrating World IP Day: Navigating the Future of Music, Technology, and Copyright in the Age of AI"

On 26th April 2025, the IPR Cell, UPES, in collaboration with the School of Law, UPES, hosted an insightful panel discussion on the theme "Exploring the Intersection of Music, Technology & IP in a Digital-First World" in celebration of World Intellectual Property Day. In alignment with WIPO's theme, "Music and IP: Feel the Beat of IP," the session brought together distinguished experts in the field, including:

Prof. Shubha Ghosh Crandall Melvin Professor of Law, Syracuse University College of Law

Prof. (Dr.) Ananth Padmanabhan - Dean, Vinayaka Mission Law School

Prof Johanna Gibson Gibson - Herchel Smith Professor of Intellectual Property Law, Queen Mary University of London

The discussion delved into a thought-provoking conversation on whether the music industry and Copyright Law are equipped to address the challenges presented by AI-generated music. As generative AI reshapes the music landscape, the issue of authorship, copyright, and fair use is becoming increasingly relevant.

The experts discussed the evolving framework of authorship for AI-generated music and explored the implications of AI systems trained on vast libraries of copyrighted works that create compositions challenging traditional ownership rights. This conversation highlighted the urgent need for a reimagined licensing framework and the evolution of fair use doctrines to keep pace with this rapidly changing creative environment.

Moderated by Dr. Latika Choudhary and Aishwarya Vatsa, the session provided invaluable insights into the dynamic and crucial intersection of creativity, technology, and intellectual property law.

61. On April 5th, 2025, 18:30 onwards, UPES School of Law commemorated the 70 years of Completion of the historic Bandung Process and brainstormed its political and legal significance in international law. The idea was to have a discussion beyond the factual matrix of the conference- to re-look at its emancipatory promises and projects and where do they all stand today in the context of the Developing countries. A powerfully beautiful articulation of contentions and critique done by Prof. Ratna Kapur, Prof. Dr. B.S. Chimni and Prof. Obiora Okafor. The session was moderated by Dr. Radhika Jagtap, Assistant Professor, UPES School of Law. The session was attended by more than 65 participants all across the country with so many interesting insights.

Bandung at 70: Reflections on TWAIL in Relation to the Contemporary crisis of/in International Law- A Panel Discussion, was the launching event in the series called "International Law and Politics in Review"- A Law and Social Sciences Cluster initiative at UPES School of Law.

62. Reflecting on an Inspiring Vidhi Symposium at Vidhiutsav 2025!

We were privileged to host Mr. Anil Raturi, Chairman, Uttarakhand Right to Service Commission, for his insightful lecture on 'The Preamble as the Soul of the Indian Constitution.' His deep dive into the constitutional ethos and its relevance in governance left the audience with a profound understanding of its enduring significance.

A special thanks to Smt. Radha Raturi, Former Chief Secretary of Uttarakhand, as our Esteemed Guest of Honour. Her presence at Vidhiutsav 2025 added immense value, and we are grateful for her support in fostering legal discourse and academic excellence.

We were also honored to welcome Shri Raj Kumar Bajpai, IFS, Additional Director, IGNFA (Dehradun), who led a compelling discussion on 'Justice - Social, Economic, and Political for Forests.' His expertise in environmental governance highlighted the crucial role of legal frameworks in balancing sustainability with economic development.

The event also witnessed a special launch of 9 books by School of Law, marking another milestone in legal academia at Vidhiutsav 2025.

A heartfelt thank you to our esteemed guests, faculty, and students for making this symposium a grand success. Let's continue to engage in meaningful discussions that shape the future of law and justice!

Swipe through to relive these memorable moments!

63. VidhiUtsav'25 commenced with an intellectually stimulating and inspiring address by none other than Dr. Subramanian Swamy, Former Minister of Law, and Justice. His presence at the Vidhi Symposium was a true honor, as he shared his invaluable insights on the "Constitutionality of the Preamble."

Dr. Swamy, a stalwart of Indian politics and constitutional thought, delivered a masterclass that transcended mere legal exposition. His lecture delved into the historical, philosophical, and nation-building aspects of the Preamble, urging us to look beyond the text and embrace the spirit of the Indian Constitution. With sharp intellect and fearless conviction, he reminded us of our duty to uphold justice, liberty, and truth.

We extend our heartfelt gratitude to Dr. Swamy for gracing VidhiUtsav'25 and inspiring the next generation of legal thinkers. His words will resonate in our minds as we embark on this journey of legal excellence, debate, and advocacy.

With the stage now set, participants from across the country are gearing up for a power-packed event filled with symposiums, debates, and competitions that will test their mettle and expand their horizons. The excitement is palpable, and the best is yet to come!

86. The Student Committee for Constitutional Law and Human Rights (SCLHR), School of Law, UPES, celebrated Constitution Week 2025 (25-29 November) with a thought-provoking keynote lecture by Hon'ble Justice (Retd.) Abhay S. Oka, Supreme Court of India, on the theme "Cultivating Constitutional Culture."

The session explored the living spirit of the Indian Constitution, tracing its roots to the freedom movement and the ideals of justice, dignity, equality and collective responsibility. Justice Oka emphasised that constitutional culture extends beyond written text into the lived practices, civic morality and institutional commitments that sustain a democracy.

He delivered profound insights on access to justice, civil liberties, environmental and animal rights, and the vital role of legal aid in empowering marginalised communities. Drawing from his own experiences as a judge and lawyer, he highlighted how legal support can transform lives and urged students to actively participate in legal aid initiatives.

The interactive Q&A showcased students' deep engagement with questions on judicial appointments, dissent, ethics in practice and career guidance. The event also included the ConQuiz 2025 prize distribution, where Justice Oka felicitated the winners, making the moment truly memorable.

This session emerged as a powerful reminder that cultivating constitutional values is not only the duty of institutions but a shared responsibility of every citizen and emerging legal professional. The celebration concluded on a patriotic note with the National Anthem.

87. Dr. B.R. Ambedkar once said “Constitutional morality is not a natural sentiment. It has to be cultivated.”

Following his footsteps, On this past Constitution Day, the Pro Bono Club, UPES-School of Law, successfully inaugurated “Nyaay Lekh,” a workshop series dedicated to bridging the gap between statutes and social justice. We were honored to host Adv. Mr. Upendra Singh (DLSA & Ex-Permanent Lok Adalat), who came and transformed the session into a masterclass on accessible legal aid. With over 50 aspiring legal minds in attendance, the discussion moved beyond textbooks to the gritty realities of the Permanent Lok Adalat and Section 22 of the LSA Act.

From navigating petition filings without court fees to understanding why Civil procedure code & Bharatiya Sakshya Adhinyam don’t apply here, our students gained a rare, practical lens into how justice is delivered to the most vulnerable.

A powerful start to a promising series

88. Gender, Curriculum, and Change: A Panel Discussion at UPES School of Law

The Gender Champions Committee of UPES School of Law hosted a thought-provoking hashtag#panel hashtag#discussion on “Gender Inclusivity and Curricula: Ideas for Reimagining and Redefining.”

The panel featured Dr. Licia Proserpio, Dr. Shiuli Vanaja, and Kanav Narayan Sahgal. The discussion was moderated by Dr. Dr. Radhika Jagtap, Ph.D \(International Law\), and Divyanshu Chaudhary contributing to the dialogue.

Key themes explored included:

- Researching and teaching through a hashtag#feminist lens
- Making curricula more hashtag#gender-neutral
- Embracing non-binary perspectives in education and pedagogy

With over 50 participants, the discussion highlighted the hashtag#transformative power of education in fostering equitable and inclusive institutional systems.

At UPES School of Law, we remain committed to hashtag#bridging dialogue, hashtag#policy, and hashtag#global challenges to create a fairer and more inclusive learning environment.

89. Shaping Future Ready Legal Minds in Fashion Law & Wearable Tech

At the School of Law, UPES, we continue to advance contemporary legal education through interdisciplinary learning and industry-aligned exposure. The Technolawgy Club successfully concluded its Certificate Course on Fashion Law and Wearable Technology, conducted in collaboration with Remfry & Sagar and the Fashion Law Journal.

Guided by eminent legal experts - Mr. Pankaj Soni, Ms. Radha Khera, and Mr. Anuj Kumar, the masterclasses provided students with an in-depth understanding of how law governs emerging innovations in fashion, luxury, and wearable technologies.

Through rigorous discussions on smart wearables, data protection, fashion agreements, cultural appropriation, sensory branding, and sustainability, students explored the evolving legal frameworks that shape global fashion markets. This engagement strengthened their grasp of critical jurisprudential issues that arise at the intersection of technology and design.

The programme concluded with a high-impact masterclass on IP strategy and patent prosecution, equipping students with practical insights into protecting innovation across wearables, couture, and luxury. This session translated complex legal concepts into actionable understanding, enhancing students' analytical, research, and practice-oriented abilities.

By immersing students in real-world legal challenges, the School of Law continues to nurture future-ready legal professionals capable of navigating new-age domains with clarity, confidence, and intellectual depth.

90. Greetings from the Moot Court Committee, School of Law, UPES.

The XX Internal Moot Court Competition, 2025, held from 28th October to 1st November, was a five-day celebration of intellect, articulation, and advocacy.

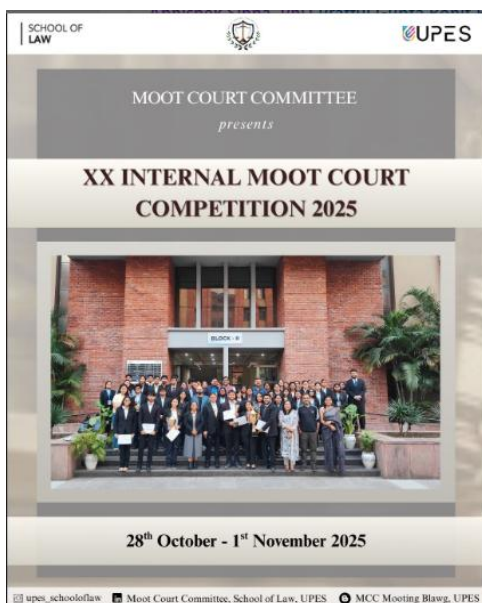

The journey began with Memorial Submissions on 28th October, followed by the Researcher's Test and Memorial Exchange, laying the foundation for the rounds ahead. The Preliminary Rounds on 29th and 30th October witnessed participants showcasing exceptional research, reasoning, and courtroom composure, with arguments rooted in constitutional and criminal law.

On 31st October, the Quarter-Finals brought together the top teams in intellectually charged exchanges, testing their precision and persuasive advocacy under pressure. The competition culminated on 1st November with the Semi-Final and Final Rounds, where the best mooters of the School of Law presented arguments of remarkable depth and clarity before an esteemed panel of judges.

The event concluded with the Valedictory Ceremony, celebrating the dedication and brilliance of all participants. Team TC 112 was declared the Winner of the XX Internal Moot Court Competition, 2025, marking a fitting end to a week defined by excellence, effort, and the pursuit of perfection.

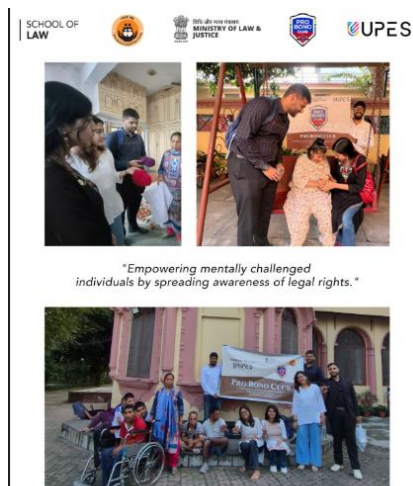

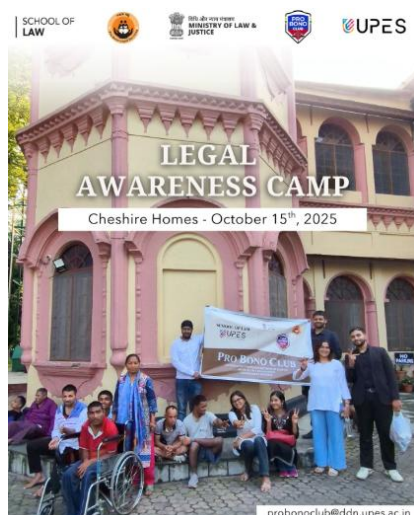

From memorials to final verdicts, the XX Internal Moot Court Competition was a true embodiment of legal advocacy, where preparation met passion, and every argument echoed the force of reason.

93. Empowering Startups & MSMEs: Leveraging IPR for Innovation and Growth

The UPES School of Law, along with its #Intellectual #Property #Rights Cell (CIPR) & Runway, in collaboration with the Federation of Indian Chambers of Commerce & Industry (FICCI), organized a workshop on “Fostering Innovation and Growth in #MSMEs & #Startups through #IPR”.

The one-day event emphasized how Intellectual Property (IP) acts as a strategic enabler for startups and MSMEs to innovate, compete, and thrive globally, with participation from over 80 scholars, entrepreneurs, and professionals.

The workshop unfolded through three thoughtfully curated thematic sessions :

Session I, titled “Relevance of Intellectual Property to the Startup Ecosystem,” was skillfully moderated by Dr. Aashish Mathur Ph.D. ,Associate Dean, IPR, R&D, UPES. The panel brought together perspectives from Susana Armário of SME Supportive Initiatives, EUIPO - European Union Intellectual Property Office, Yasir Abbas Zaidi, Examiner of Patents & Designs and NIPAM Expert, Sri Prakash, President of TiE Dehradun, and GAURAV DWIVEDI, CEO and Founder, UGreen Technologies.

Session II, focusing on “Government Initiatives and IPR Trends Globally,” saw Mr. Vikrant Rana, Managing Partner at S.S. Rana & Co., guiding the discourse. The conversation was enriched by insights from Dr. Ram Vishwakarma, Director, CSIR, Dr. Deepak Murari, Joint Director, Directorate of Industries, Government of Uttarakhand, Sangeeta Nagar, Former Scientist F and Head, IPR Division, TIFAC, DST, GOI, and Kunal Narayan Uniyal, Co-founder, Integrated Maritime Exchange.

The final session, “Technology Commercialization, Licensing/Technology Transfer and Fund Raising,” was steered by Mr. Mohit Nagpal Director, UPES Council for Innovation & Entrepreneurship, and convened an engaged panel comprising Mitali Arora, Founder, MAK Law, Dr. Mukesh Kumar, Former Head, International Division, ICMR & Distinguished Professor, UPES, and Ashish Bhandari, Founder, Aranya Carbon.

The workshop concluded with a special address by Dr. (Prof.) Rajendra Dobhal, Vice Chancellor, SRHU, highlighting the role of IP in driving innovation and growth.

School of Liberal Studies & Media

1. The School of Liberal Studies and Media, UPES, hosted Shab Setu on Hindi Diwas to reflect on the role of language as a bridge between people, ideas, and cultures.

Prof. Govind Singh emphasized that language is more than communication it carries respect, empathy, and the spirit of unity. Dr. Sudha Tiwari upes further highlighted how linguistic diversity shapes journalism and strengthens understanding in a globalized society.

The event featured powerful poetry performances by students, bringing alive the richness of Hindi as a language of creativity, tradition, and identity. These performances showcased how expression through words can deepen cultural awareness and foster dialogue.

For the students of Liberal Studies and Media, Shab Setu was not only a celebration but also a meaningful academic experience. It encouraged them to think critically about language, explore its cultural depth, and recognize its central role in media and communication. By engaging with such dialogues, students prepare themselves to become more empathetic, responsible, and culturally aware voices in society.

Shab Setu reaffirmed that language continues to be a bridge -connecting knowledge with expression, and education with real-world understanding.

2. Celebrating World Photography Day with a lens on experiential learning! 🌍

At UPES, learning goes far beyond the classroom. On the occasion of World Photography Day, the School of Liberal Studies and Media hosted a guest lecture and Himalayan Photography Exhibition by Mr. Thresh Kapoor, giving our students an immersive experience into the art of visual storytelling.

He shared some of his breathtaking Himalayan photographs, which helped students understand the nuances of framing, perspective, and storytelling through a lens.

Such sessions not only enrich academic knowledge but also nurture creativity, critical thinking, and real-world application. Because at UPES, we believe in training our students not just through books, but through experiences that shape their perspectives and skills for life.

3. From Theory to Global Discourse: UPES Faculty Shapes Conversations at IPSA World Congress

We are delighted to share that Dr. Kaustav Padmapati, Assistant Professor in the Social Sciences and Humanities cluster, SoLSM, represented UPES at the 28th International Political Science Association \(IPSA\) World Congress of Political Science, in Seoul, South Korea.

At the event, Dr. Padmapati:

- Presented his research “Revisiting the Debate on Missing Women in India, 2014–2024”

- Chaired a highly relevant session on “Multinational Cooperation and Conflict in Asia”, which examined cooperation, conflicts, and inter-regional relationships in Asia through diverse, multi-level perspectives -reinterpreting traditional political theories to explore the evolving roles of states, organizations, individuals, and ideas.

His contribution reflects our commitment to fostering globally relevant research and academic excellence.

9. Inside the World of Global Journalism & Documentary Art 🌍 🎬

What happens when an Emmy-winning journalist walks into a classroom full of aspiring storytellers? Magic.

Over two exhilarating days, Rohit Gandhi, a trailblazer in global journalism and documentary filmmaking, took students on an unforgettable journey—one that blurred the lines between news and narrative, truth and perspective.

Day 1 :- pulled back the curtain on the high-stakes world of international politics and conflict reporting. With gripping stories from the field and deep-dive discussions, Mr Rohit unraveled how global narratives are crafted—and sometimes manipulated. Students didn't just learn how to report; they discovered how to think like international journalists: curious, courageous, and always questioning. From war zones to world summits, they glimpsed the realities of telling stories that matter on a global stage.

Day 2 :- shifted the lens to documentary storytelling. The room transformed into a creative studio as Rohit guided students through the anatomy of a powerful documentary—from idea to impact. Through hands-on exploration, they learned how to develop compelling concepts, structure authentic narratives, and use visuals not just to inform, but to move hearts and minds.

It wasn't just a workshop.it was a masterclass in truth, creativity, and global consciousness.

A truly transformative experience where the next generation of media storytellers found their voice—and their vision.

12. Where Algorithms Meet Awaaz | KALRAV 2026

This spring, the School of Liberal Studies and Humanities at UPES launches KALRAV 2026, its flagship two-day festival celebrating the spirit of the Liberal Arts.

Derived from the melodious chorus of many voices, Kalrav symbolizes dialogue, creativity, and the coming together of diverse perspectives.

Theme: hashtag#Human hashtag#Intelligence in Times of hashtag#AI

As hashtag#artificialintelligence rapidly reshapes our world, KALRAV explores a critical question — what remains uniquely human? Through discussions, performances, and creative engagements, the event examines the enduring role of human hashtag#creativity, ethics, hashtag#culture, and hashtag#criticalthinking in shaping hashtag#technology and society.

The event will open with a keynote by Dr. Alasdair Roberts, University of Massachusetts Amherst.

13. Where technology meets geopolitics, and policy meets philosophy - meaningful education begins.

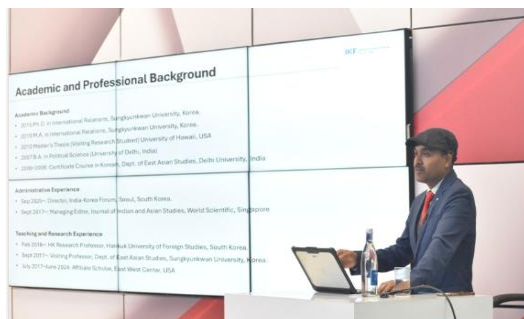

The School of Liberal Studies & Humanities at UPES had the privilege of hosting Prof. Rajiv Kumar University of Foreign Studies, South Korea; Director, India-Korea Forum \(한-인도 포럼\) for a thought-provoking session under the Distinguished Lecture Series on “Building AI Nations: East Asia’s Model and Its Global Implications.”

The lecture unpacked how East Asian nations are strategically building hashtag#AI ecosystems - not merely as technological frameworks, but as instruments of economic strength, governance innovation, and global influence.

For our students, this was more than an academic dialogue; it was an interdisciplinary exploration that seamlessly connected International Relations, Public Policy, Economics, Technology & Society, and Global Diplomacy.

The session encouraged them to examine artificial intelligence not simply as technological advancement, but as a transformative force shaping governance models, economic strategy, and global power structures - equipping them with the analytical depth and global perspective essential for the future.

At UPES, by bringing global academic and industry experts into our ecosystem, we ensure that students cultivate critical thinking, policy literacy, and global awareness - competencies that make them industry-ready and intellectually agile in a rapidly evolving world.

14. Understanding India's global role in a rapidly shifting world order.

The School of Liberal Studies & Humanities at UPES had the honour of hosting Ambassador Rtn. Anil Trigunayat \(IFS Retd\) for an insightful lecture on "India's Foreign Policy: Changing Equations & Emerging Challenges."

The session examined India's strategic autonomy, its multi-alignment approach in a multipolar world, and the civilisational vision of Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam as the nation advances toward its 2047 aspirations.

For our students, this was more than a lecture - it was a deep engagement with contemporary geopolitics. The discussion encouraged critical reflection on diplomacy, regional security, economic partnerships, global institutions, and India's expanding leadership role on the world stage.

By bringing seasoned diplomats and policy practitioners into our academic ecosystem, UPES ensures that students gain real-world insight, strategic thinking skills, and a nuanced understanding of global affairs - preparing them to become informed leaders, analysts, and changemakers.

15. Where global scholarship deepens local understanding. An international masterclass that redefined classroom learning.

The School of Liberal Studies & Humanities at UPES had the distinguished honour of hosting Prof. William Sax, Chair, Department of Anthropology, South Asia Institute, Heidelberg University, for an immersive lecture series that exemplified the power of international academic exchange.

For our students, this was not merely a series of lectures - it was an encounter with rigorous field scholarship, comparative civilizational inquiry, and methodological depth.

Through explorations of ritual performance traditions such as The Dance of the Pandavas, critical reflections on anthropological fieldwork, comparative analyses of Tantric traditions in India and Indonesia, and discussions on Nanda Devi as a living cultural presence in Uttarakhand, students engaged directly with globally recognised research frameworks applied to deeply rooted local contexts.

Such international masterclasses strengthen critical inquiry and analytical reasoning, enhance methodological sophistication in research, foster cross-cultural comparative thinking, and build intellectual confidence to engage in global discourse.

16. Building AI Nations: Why Some Countries Lead While Others Lag

In the age of Artificial Intelligence, why are some nations advancing rapidly while others remain cautious?

At the Distinguished Lecture Series, Prof. Rajiv Kumar, Hankuk University of Foreign Studies, South Korea, and Director, India-Korea Forum \(한-인도 포럼\) Forum, will examine how East Asia has built strong hashtag#AI ecosystems — and what this means for global policy, innovation, and leadership.

17. When students support students, learning becomes transformative.

The School for Life, UPES, launched Project hashtag#SPEAK (Support Program for English Advancement and Knowledge) with an immersive workshop on “Enhancing Articulation and Fluency for Confident, Effective Communication.”

Led by Dr. Rakshita Gokula (Centre for Teaching and Learning, UPES), the session moved beyond theory. Through structured articulation drills, real-time speaking simulations, peer feedback circles, and confidence-building exercises, 20+ second-year students actively practiced in the workshop gaining clarity, pronunciation, and spontaneous expression.

Under the guidance of Vipin Chauhan (Faculty Lead) and Pritha Agarwal (SOLSH & Student Lead), SFL hashtag#Ambassadors now conduct weekly practice sessions - creating a psychologically safe environment for continuous improvement.

Participants strengthen their academic writing, and presentation skills while Ambassadors refine leadership, hashtag#mentoring, and facilitation competencies.

18. International Perspectives. Real-World Policy. Transformative Learning

The School of Liberal Studies and Humanities UPES hosted a powerful guest lecture on “Disaster Governance and Recovery in Japan”, led by Dr. Anna Martini, Assistant Professor for Human Geography, Alma Mater Studiorum – Università di Bologna Italy.

Drawing from Japan’s disaster management frameworks, governance models, and recovery hashtag#economics, the session offered students a rare international perspective on how hashtag#policy, planning, and institutional decision-making shape responses to large-scale crises.

The lecture helped students connect liberal studies, public policy, disaster economics, governance, and humanitarian planning, while also strengthening critical discourse through advanced academic engagement - a hallmark of Liberal Studies education.

Such global academic interactions empower students to think beyond borders, understand policy in action, and engage meaningfully with real-world challenges.

At the School of Liberal Studies and Humanities, education goes beyond theory — it cultivates globally aware, analytically strong, and socially responsible leaders.

19. Interdisciplinary Learning in Action: hashtag#Neuropsychology Meets Liberal Studies

The School of Liberal Studies & Humanities (SOLHS), UPES, recently hosted an enriching global classroom experience with Dr. Knut Hestad, renowned neuropsychologist and Visiting Faculty from Norway.

Across a six-session academic engagement, classrooms at UPES transformed into spaces of international dialogue and interdisciplinary inquiry. Dr. Hestad's lectures traversed the foundations of neuropsychology, the science of depression, cognitive deficits linked to HIV, the mind–body interface, and neuropsychological perspectives on ageing and dementia.

What made this engagement distinctive was not only its academic rigour, but its liberal studies lens - where neuroscience met empathy, clinical research met human stories, and global scholarship met local classrooms. Students and faculty engaged with complex questions around mental health, disease, cognition, and care, grounded in real-world research and cross-cultural perspectives.

This visiting faculty programme reaffirmed SOLHS's commitment to global exposure within the classroom, ensuring that learning at UPES is not confined by borders, but enriched by international thought leadership and collaborative scholarship.

20. Empowering Change: Shaping Leaders in Harmony with Life – School for Life Ambassadors Programme

The SFL hashtag#Ambassadors Programme has been launched with a powerful purpose - to nurture student leaders who lead with hashtag#empathy and hashtag#integrity.

Aligned with the School for Life outcomes, the initiative equips students with hashtag#critical thinking, hashtag#problem-solving, hashtag#creativity, hashtag#innovation, hashtag#adaptability, and ethical decision-making skills - essential to nurturing holistic, responsible individuals.

What began as an orientation has already transformed into real impact.

Last week, the newly inducted SFL Ambassadors stepped into their roles with their first outreach visit to a nearby school, where they spent the day teaching children, engaging in interactive games, sharing stories, and distributing free stationery kits. Through real-world outreach, ambassadors learn to convert their capabilities into meaningful action and community improvement.

As they continue the journey, the ambassadors will build supportive spaces, lead student-driven initiatives, and foster a strong culture of belonging - on campus and beyond.

21. UPES Faculty Leads the Dialogue on Youth & Democracy at hashtag#ACPC25

Dr. Harshika Varma, Assistant Professor at School of Liberal Studies and Media, was invited as a Speaker at the Asian Conference for Political Communication 2025 (hashtag#ACPC25) held in Singapore from 20–22 October 2025.

Organized by the Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung – Media Programme Asia, the conference brought together leading academics, policymakers, and communication experts from across Asia to deliberate on the evolving intersections of hashtag#media, hashtag#democracy, and political engagement.

Representing UPES on this prestigious global platform, Dr. Harshika contributed to a high-impact session titled:

“Winning the Next Generation: Engaging and Informing Youth in the Digital Age”

She shared critical insights on how:

- Digital media ecosystems influence young citizens’ political perceptions,
- Participatory platforms can strengthen democratic dialogue, and
- Communication strategies must evolve to meaningfully engage the next generation.

Her participation reflects the research-driven, hashtag#future-ready academic leadership that UPES continues to champion.

22. Breaking Barriers, Building Voices | International Colloquium on Gender & Social Justice

The International Colloquium on Gender and Social Justice, hosted by School of Liberal Studies and Media, UPES, in collaboration with the University of Bologna, Italy, brought together diverse voices, powerful ideas, and transformative dialogues.

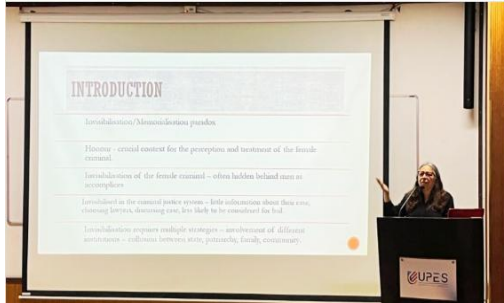

Dr. Mahuya Bandyopadhyay (Professor of Sociology, IIT Delhi) unpacked the complex realities of women and the prison system in India, exploring justice, reform, and resilience through stories from within prison walls. Meanwhile, Dr. Licia Proserpio (Assistant Professor, University of Bologna (Alma Mater Studiorum – Università di Bologna)) led a hashtag#masterclass that opened new perspectives on feminist theory - examining how it continues to shape contemporary culture, media, and politics across societies.

Students & Faculties engaged deeply through dialogue, storytelling, and critical reflection — connecting global feminist ideas with local realities.

Key Learnings

- Understanding intersectionality deepens awareness of how social structures shape human experience.

- Liberal inquiry thrives on inclusive, empathetic, and socially conscious perspectives.
- Leadership in the liberal arts begins with curiosity, compassion, and critical reflection.
- Meaningful dialogue transforms awareness into informed action and advocacy.
- Global academic hashtag#collaborations enrich collective understanding and nurture shared responsibility.

24. The School of Liberal Studies and Media, UPES, hosted ShabdSetu on Hindi Diwas to reflect on the role of language as a bridge between people, ideas, and cultures.

Prof. Govind Singh emphasized that language is more than communication it carries respect, empathy, and the spirit of unity. Dr. Sudha Tiwari upes further highlighted how linguistic diversity shapes journalism and strengthens understanding in a globalized society.

The event featured powerful poetry performances by students, bringing alive the richness of Hindi as a language of creativity, tradition, and identity. These performances showcased how expression through words can deepen cultural awareness and foster dialogue.

For the students of Liberal Studies and Media, ShabdSetu was not only a celebration but also a meaningful academic experience. It encouraged them to think critically about language, explore its cultural depth, and recognize its central role in media and communication. By engaging with such dialogues, students prepare themselves to become more empathetic, responsible, and culturally aware voices in society.

ShabdSetu reaffirmed that language continues to be a bridge -connecting knowledge with expression, and education with real-world understanding.
